YOUNG NEGRO CONFESSES TO DOUBLE KILLING

Searching Party Finds Bodies of Young Girls, Skulls Crushed by Heavy Blows, in Woods Near Clifton Forge, Va.—Prisoner and Three Others Spirited Away.

ROANOKE, Va., Nov. 19— — (AP) — Commonwealth's Attorney M. J. Putnam today announced he had obtained a full confession from Philip Jones, 25, negro, that he had killed Alice Hill, 13, and her 8-year-old sister, Ellen, whose bodies were found today near Clifton Forge.

Putman made his statement as he was leaving the jail this afternoon after several hours spent questioning Jones, his wife and two negro men.

A few minutes later two police cars left here with the four negroes. Two cars were manned by four Roanoke policemen under orders not to tell their destination.

Found By Searching Party.

CLIFTON FORGE, Va., Nov. 19 —(AP)—The bodies of two young girls, their skulls crushed by heavy blows, were found in woods near here early this morning by a searching party and shortly afterwards authorities arrested three negroes and rushed them to Roanoke for safe keeping.

The two white children, Alice B. Hill, 13 and Ellen Hill, 9, had been missing since Sunday night after they had visited the farm on which one of the arrested negroes lived.

The negroes arrested were Philip Jones, 25, Chester Smith, jr., about 23, and Jones' wife. Commonwealth's Attorney M. J. Putnam stated that he had a confession from Jones that he killed the children, and that in the alleged confession Jones sought to implicate Smith. Smith, however, denied any part in the crime.

Coroner Louis A. Houff, said the girls, children of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Hill of Clifton Forge,

Minister Advocates U. S. Aid for Couples Who Want to Marry

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 19 —(AP.)—Wedding bells should not be stilled by the rigors of adversity, thinks Rev. Dr. Bachman G. Hodge, local Methodist minister. He believes the government should proffer aid to depression-hit young people who want to get married.

"The government is supporting so many things," he told his congregation yesterday. "Why wouldn't it be well for it to help out young men and women who want to establish a home?

"Tell them to get married, give them 10 acres of land and money to build a house and let them have their home and children while they want them."

'ALL IS WELL' WITH COUNTRY, SAYS PRESIDENT

Roosevelt at Warm Springs; Says New Deal Is Progressing.

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Nov. 19 —(AP)—President Roosevelt, with the pronouncement that "all is well" and that the new deal is progressing in its present program, particularly for cheaper power, settled down at his "other home" today for a thanksgiving visit.

A talk at Tupelo, Miss., on electric rates was interpreted to mean that Mr. Roosevelt endorsed municipal power plants and gave an ultimatum to private power companies to co-operate for cheaper rates.

The president asserted a "deep seated belief" that "the people of this nation understand what we are trying to do, are co-operating with what we are trying to do and have made up their minds that we are going to do it."

"Today," he said, "I see not only hope but I see determination—knowledge that all is well with the country and that we are coming back."

Hits Obstructionists.

At Birmingham, Ala., an industrial center, he gave assurance of the administration's "keenest concern" for heavy industries, and asserted that obstructionists "do not reflect the views of the overwhelming majority of the people."

Today the cheery chief executive ruminated over a stack of government reports for new plans but apparently was determined to keep the government on its present course without material deviation of much new legislation.

Here will come in the near future congressional leaders and government aides. The president is studying efforts to put more men to work and to end unproductive relief grants.

He also is studying efforts to make government income and outgo balance and has taken personal charge of the budget.

BONDHOLDERS IN PARTIAL VICTORY

Lincoln Trust Groups Will Not Have To Repay Interest.

Bondholders of the bankrupt Lincoln Trust company won a partial victory in a circuit court of appeals decision received here Monday but the trustee in bankruptcy, L. A. Ricketts, was favored in a part of the ruling.

The bondholders, under the decision, will not be required to repay interest advanced to them on coupons of mortgage bonds but will be required to repay money advanced for taxes, insurance, repairs, etc. The interest item amounts to about $175,000 while the taxes, etc., amount to about $20,000.

Successor Trustee's Appeal.

The matter specifically known as the Harriman loan, was originally brought in bankruptcy court here where the referee held that the bankrupt had a first lien for the tax items and an equal lien with the bondholders on the interest item. The First Trust company, as successor trustee, asked a review and Judge Donohoe at Omaha upheld the referee. The suc-

SUPREME COURT WILL HEAR GOLD CASES ON JAN. 8

Four Actions Challenging Abrogation of Gold Clause Are United.

ATTORNEY GENERAL WILL ARGUE SUITS

U. S. Contends Welfare of Many Instead of Few Should Control.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 — (AP)—To hasten a final decision on legislation estimated to affect as much as $100,000,000,000, the supreme court today consolidated four cases challenging the abrogation of gold clauses in contracts and set them for hearing on January 8.

This action was taken at the request of James Crawford Biggs, U. S. solicitor general. So important does the government consider the litigation that Attorney General Cummings personally will argue the cases.

The legislation, passed June 5, 1933, set aside the provision in contracts that payments must be made in gold.

The suits were based on the contention that after devaluation of the dollar payments would be made in currency worth only 59 06 per cent as much as before.

The government contends that the purchasing power of the currency did not depreciate nearly that much and that the welfare of the many instead of the few should control.

The supreme court today refused to pass on the validity of New York legislation authorizing the state superintendent of insurance to take over and attempt to rehabilitate mortgage guaranty and investment companies in default.

Previously, the act had been declared unconstitutional by the New York supreme court but the state court of appeals sustained it.

NEXT CORN-HOG PAYMENTS DUE

State To Get $10,000,000; Appeal Made for 1935 Program.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19—(AP) —The AAA will begin disbursement of the second installment of the 1934 corn-hog payments, totalling about $92,000,000, within a few days.

This announcement was made Monday at the same time as agricultural adjustment administration officials appealed to farmers to support the 1935 program, which will call for a 10 per cent reduction in corn acreage and hog numbers from the 1932-33 averages.

Second payments will be distributed as rapidly as compliance certificates have been received and checked in Washington. To date approximately 450,000 certificates out of the total of 1,150,000 contracts have been received.

Checks to counties from which expense statements for the period July 1 to December 31 have not been received will be held up, even through compliance certificates have been submitted. Checking expense statement is necessary to determine each farmer's share of local administrative expenses.

The total of the first payment in Nebraska is $12,398,891.

Nebraska's share of the second payment will amount to about $10,000,000, according to state AAA headquarters. This includes a second payment on hogs of $2 and a final payment on corn of 15 cents. The last payment on hogs will be made in February. It will be $1 a head.

Big Dipper Is Breaking Up; Five Middle Stars Are Moving Out of It

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 19— (AP)—The Big Dipper, one of the best known constellations in the sky, is breaking up, because the middle five of its seven stars are moving out of it at 10 miles a second, the National Academy of Science was told today.

In 50,000 years from now the Big Dipper will be totally unrecognizable because of this break-up, said Dr. J. J. Nassau of Case School of Applied Science.

The Dipper's five middle stars have been found to be part of a group of 126 stars that are rushing through another group of stars, including the sun.

2 MORE WOMEN DIE IN CHICAGO HOTEL PLUNGES

Toll Is Three In Six Days; One Sent Wire To Masterson.

CHICAGO, Nov. 19—(AP)—A death leap from a hotel window has ended the broken romance of another Chicago girl.

Mrs. Nellie Ablin, 26, a former showgirl, died in a plunge from the eighth floor of the Commonwealth hotel on the north side last night during a celebration in honor of the 10 to 9 victory of the Chicago Bears professional team over the New York Giants.

Police said Mrs. Ablin was separated from her husband, Irving Ablin of Aurora, Ill., and that their separation was believed to have been the reason for her act.

After she had listened to a broadcast of the football game, police said the young woman sent a telegram of congratulation to members of the winning team, including Bernie Masterson, a former University of Nebraska backfield star. She then proposed the celebration and later jumped from the window.

Falls From 18th Floor.

CHICAGO, Nov. 19—(AP)—A 65-year-old woman today plunged from the 18th floor of the Stevens hotel to her death on a crowded Michigan avenue sidewalk. It was the third fatal fall from a high window made by a woman here in the last six days.

The victim was definitely identified by the coroner's office as Mrs. Teresa Naughton Ryan, wife of Thomas Ryan, a retired policeman. She had registered at the hotel as Mrs. M. Brown of Joliet, Ill., only half an hour before the tragedy. She had been suffering from a nervous breakdown, officers were told by the woman's daughter-in-law.

WILLARD MACK, COLORFUL MOVIE FIGURE, IS DEAD

Noted Director, Wed Four Times, Succumbs To Heart Attack.

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Nov. 19—(AP)—Willard Mack, 56, actor, playwright and film director, whose marital affairs made him one of the most colorful figures in the theatrical world, died at his home here late Sunday night of a heart attack. He had been ill two weeks.

Willard, author and director of many notable films, was married four times. In each case he chose a woman for his wife from his profession.

His first wife was Maude Leone, well-known stage beauty. His second marriage was to Pauline Frederick, star of the stage and screen. Marjorie Rambeau, for many years a stage star and later a character actress of the screen, became his third wife. His fourth and last wife, who was at his bedside when the end came, was Beatrice Banyard.

Prolific Dramatist.

One of the most prolific of modern dramatists, Mack was the author of scores of plays, including "Tiger Rose," "Her Man," "Canary Dutch," "Men of Steel," "Miracle Mary," 'King Queen Jack," "My Friend Judas," "The Dove," and many others.

Among his screen plays were "Madame X," and "What Price Innocence?" the latter of which he acted in and directed.

Mack was born at Morrisburg, Ontario, Sept. 17, 1878. Charles W. McLaughlin was his real name. He was educated in Brooklyn, N. Y., and Georgetown university. Starting his career as a newspaper reporter, he turned early to the stage and for several years was leading man in a stock company in San Francisco.

STEWART SEEKS SENATE OFFICE

Candidate For President Pro Tem In Favor of Primary Reform.

State Senator Cloyd L. Stewart, Clay Center, re-elected to a second term from the twenty-sixth district, announced his candidacy for the post of president pro tem of the 1935 senate here Monday. Senator Stewart is the first to announce his candidacy for the senate presidency.

Reform of the primary system, a plank in Stewart's personal platform, will be his major objective next winter, he declared, adding that he expects to have plenty of help from both democrats and republicans in both houses of the legislature.

Stewart advocates adoption by Nebraska of a plan similar to that in vogue in Colorado. Under the system in that state, party conventions are held prior to the primary, and candidates getting 10 per cent of the vote at the convention get places on the primary ballot. Others can file by petition and if nominated become the party candidates. The system prevents unknowns without substantial followings entering the primary. While not prepared to outline a

Kidnaped Boy Restored To His Parents

Lexington Child Found With Girl Hitch Hiker In Chattanooga.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 19— (AP)—Kidnaped 4-year-old Jackie Gibbons was restored to his parents here today by Detective Sergt. Claude Embry who brought him from Chattanooga, Tenn., where he had been taken by Bernice Lou Givens, 20-year-old hitch-hiker.

The girl is held in Chattanooga for Kentucky authorities.

"Hi, Daddy; did you come down to meet me?" shouted Jackie as he ran down the station platform toward his father, John Lawrence Gibbons, Northern States Contracting Co. employe.

"Hello, Jackie," Gibbons replied.

"I came in on that big train," Jackie shouted happily.

"My boy, my boy," his mother almost sobbed as she came up.

Mrs. Gibbons held her son tightly in her arms. He has been missing since last Thursday afternoon. He was found yesterday. The Givens girl admitted he accompanied

SURVEY OF FERA IN STATE BEGUN

Haynes Orders Study to See If Personnel of 1,400 Is Too Big.

Several members of the auditing force for a railroad company, whose services were loaned for the purpose, have begun work on the survey of the Nebraska FERA organization announced last week, to determine whether its personnel of approximately 1,400 is more than needed, and where reductions might be made without crippling the work.

Federal Agent Haynes said that the survey is being undertaken at his own request, and not because of any criticism directed against the organization.

The rent problem for families on relief has been causing some trouble, Mr. Haynes declared on Monday, because some landlords insisted on charging regular rates for living quarters or evicting the occupants. The FERA refuses to pay rent on a commercial basis, but authorities limited allowances made from county funds for that item.

By establishing shelters of its own in certain localities, to take care of evicted families, the relief administration has succeeded in getting rental rates for other dwellings cut down somewhat, Haynes said.

REG ROPER IMPROVED.

Slight improvement was reported Monday in the condition of Reg C Roper, 3103 South Sixteenth street, who has been seriously ill with pneumonia since Friday at Bryan Memorial hospital. The attending physician said Mr Roper has shown continued improvement and is expected to recover. Pneumonia developed from a cold Mr. Roper contracted on a hunting trip.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 19— (AP) — One of the strangest mysteries of the Galapagos islands, at the equator in the Pacific, 500 miles off Ecuador, has resulted from the finding of two bodies on one of the most lonely and waterless islands.

Death came from thirst, a lingering terrible death weeks before the remains were found Saturday by the tuna clipper Santa Amaro.

The mystery is:

Were these the bodies of Arthur Wittman, German adventurer, father of the first white child born on the old convict island, and his wife, Margaret?

Wittman was the only man known here to be of rather large stature and slightly bald, who lived on Charles island, and his wife the only woman known to have baby clothes.

Or, were the bodies those of the strange Baroness Eloise Bousquet de Wagner, reputedly of Vienna, 38 years of age, and one of her companions, Alfred Rudolph Lorenz of Paris and Vienna or Robert Philopson, her mate?

Planned Garden of Eden.

That they could be those of Dr. Friedrich Ritter and Frau Dore Strauch Koerwien is not deemed possible by scientists who know the islanders. The two left their marital mates in Berlin in the hope of establishing a Garden of Eden.

Or they may be a shipwrecked couple, not known in the islands. Identification of the bodies, it was reported by radio, was almost impossible, and the state in which they were found cast doubt about the first report that they appeared to be that of a man and woman.

Capt. Manuel Rodriguez, skipper of the Santa Amaro, first reported the smaller body seemed to be that of a woman, slight and blonde. The larger, slightly bald

LET CONTRACTS $214,243 WORK

State Defers Action On McCook Viaduct and Blair Grading.

Award of contracts for thirteen of the eighteen highway projects on which bids were received Friday was announced Monday by State Engineer A. T. Lobdell. Contracts awarded total $212,400 worth of construction work and $1,843 of maintenance work. Award of contracts on the remaining five projects on $193,493 worth of construction was deferred pending agreements with counties and cities and in one instance with the Burlington railroad.

Deferred was the contract for building a $62,223 viaduct at McCook until a necessary agreement is obtained with the Burlington. Also deferred, was 4.1 miles of grading and structures between Blair and Kennard, pending an agreement with Blair; 8.1 miles grading and structures Table Rock to Lewiston, county agreement lacking; Walthill-Macy, 5 miles grading and structures, county agreement lacking and Albion-Spalding, culverts and bridges, county agreement lacking.

7 Ask Acquittal In Insull Trial

CHICAGO, Nov. 19—(AP)—Seven of Samuel Insull's co-defendants asked Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson today to acquit them by directed verdicts, claiming that the government had failed to connect them with the $100,000,000 mail fraud case w hich will go to a jury later this week.

Appeals for acquittal were made on behalf of Stanley Field, socially prominent Chicago banker; Clarence W. Sills, a vice president of Corporation Securities Co; Clarence R. Whitworth, accountant; Frank R. Evers, George A. Kemp, Robert W. White, and F. H. Scheel, of Insull's Utilities Securities Co.

"When Samuel Insull, jr., was on the stand, he said Waite, Kemp and Evers had no responsibility in this case," said their attorney.

"The jury may decide to disregard what he said," the judge remarked.

DR. S. E. COOK ILL.

Although Dr S E Cook, 1400 South Twentieth street, is critically ill at Bryan Memorial hospital, members of his family said Monday that he is able to see friends. Dr. Cook was taken to the hospital about ten days ago and is being attended by Dr. Miles J. Breuer.

BIDS ON WATER MAIN ARE ASKED

City Works to Connect With Line for State Institutions.

Taking of bids for the construction of a 12-inch water main in Twelfth street from Washington to South and west to Eleventh street was authorized by the city council Monday. The engineer's estimate of cost is $14,500.

The main will connect the municipal water plant with a pipe line to be built by the state to the state hospital and reformatory, at a cost estimated at $60,000. Signing of the agreement by the mayor was authorized last week.

The council was expected to authorize advertising for bids on a quantity of pipe and other materials needed to connect two recently installed pumps at the A

As Rogers Sees It

SANTA MONICA, Cal., Nov. 19—With all the "haywire" ideas we have, every once in a while we hit on a good one, like old age pensions (which is sure to come at the next congress). Well, I was down to Los Angeles live stock show, and I saw these hundreds of farmer boys that had fattened and cared for a calf, or pig, or sheep themselves. It's a thing called the 4-H club. Somebody was inspired when they founded that. It's all over the country. By golly they are a great bunch of kids, and don't they have some fine stock. Look how young and he is starting in his business. We got the most thorough training in every line of business in this country, but statesmanship, and that, you just decide overnight yourself, "I am a statesman."

Yours, WILL.

Prof. Manter Visited Wittmans, Feared Marchena Island Victims

News of the discovery of two bodies on the beach of one of the lonely islands of the Galapagos group was of great interest here Monday to Dr. H. W. Manter, University of Nebraska zoologist, who made a ten weeks' visit to the islands last winter.

Dr. Manter met the Wittmans, believed to be the dead couple, and also the Baroness Eloissa Bousquet de Wagner, self styled "queen of the Galapagos," during the time he was at the islands.

"I recall hearing a recent rumor to the effect that the baroness had disappeared from her usual haunts on Charles island, her domain," Dr Manter said. "Obviously, I do not know how true it is, but I understand that the bodies have not yet been identified accurately and it may be that she is one of the dead persons."

Didn't Visit Marchena.

Dr. Manter pointed out that the Wittmans had built a fine stone house on Charles island near the home of the baroness. He said he had never visited the Marchena island, where the bodies were found. He said he could give no reason for any possible foul play.

Dr. Manter made the tour with Captain G. Allan Hancock, who is attempting to aid in identification of the bodies.

The tale about the baroness putting two honeymooners off her island some years ago, was branded as an exaggeration by Dr. Manter. He returned from the islands last March and had seen the baroness, the Wittmans, Dr. Friederich Ritter and Frau Dore Koerwien on the lonely Ecuadoran islands shortly before leaving.

Bishop Bentley, Alaska, Here For Mission Meet, Describes Sled Travel

Describing the problems of dog and sled travel in the interior of Alaska, Rev. John Boyd Bentley, suffragan bishop of Alaska, spoke to a meeting sponsored by Lincoln Episcopal churches at the chamber of commerce Monday noon.

Bishop Bentley, who is the youngest bishop in the Episcopal church, is in Lincoln to conduct a special missionary meeting at Holy Trinity Episcopal church Monday evening, at 7.45 o'clock. He will be assisted by Mrs. A. J Ford, who conducted a round table meeting at St. Mathews church Monday afternoon.

Bishop Bentley, now on a tour of South Dakota and Nebraska, is regularly stationed at Nenana, 400 miles from the Pacific coast, where he and Mrs. Bentley are in charge of St. Mark's mission.

"From the first of November until late in the spring, we have to travel with the dog sleds," he said. The driver of the team often has to streak out ahead and make a solid path for the team — even double-tracking when the snow is particularly soft and footing insecure. Twenty to twenty-five miles a day is regarded as quite good distance, he said.

"Dogs do not burro into the snow to sleep," he said. 'They merely curl up on the top of a snow bank, and sometimes are covered up by morning."

Bishop E. V. Shayler introduced the speaker.

Consider Parade Route—The committee in charge of the Christmas parade, to be held in Lincoln Nov. 30, met at the chamber of commerce Monday noon to consider the possible route for the march. Fred N. Wells was in charge of the session.

Motion Filed—The village of Deshler and others filed a motion in Federal court Monday to dismiss the amended petition in a case brought against them by bondholders of the Southern Nebraska Power Co., seeking to enjoin the village from building a municipal power plant. The original petition was recently dismissed and leave to file the amended petition granted. The motion to dismiss, filed by Attorney Perry, Van Pelt and Marti for the village, alleges want of equity, misjoinder of parties plaintiff, and no facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action.

her from Lexington to Tennessee. She claimed she intended "to take him back home after awhile."

Up at Dawn.

Sergeant Embry and the boy had a berth from Chattanooga. Embry said Jackie was unwilling to go to bed last night. He wanted to stay up and look out of the window. When he did go to sleep it was not for long. Before dawn he was up, asking questions.

All during the short drive home Jackie chattered about his experiences. Back in his own sitting room he was eager to continue.

"What was the name of the girl you were with?" his father asked.

"Bernice Givens," Jackie answered.

"Was she nice to you?"

Oh yes. She was awful nice."

"Did she spank you?' Mrs. Gibbons took up the questioning.

"No mam."

"Did she tell you stories?'

"Oh, yes mam. Lots of stories."

"And did you get a lot of rides?"

"Lot of rides."

"How did you get these rides?" Jackie's father broke in.

Shows How It's Done.

Jackie got up, walked out into the middle of the floor, struck a pose and crooked his arm. His thumb pointed prominently. No old veteran hitch hiker could have done better.

"Where did you go when it got dark?' Mrs. Gibbons questioned again.

"Went to bed," Pressed for details the boy explained.

"I went up to the house and asked the lady if she had any spare beds. She said she didn't have any. So I went on to another house. We found a lady with spare beds all right."

His father had been tending slightly toward sterness.

"Are you going to run away again with a strange girl?"

"She's not a strange girl," his son defended. "Shes Bernice Givens. I saw her in front of the house. "Do you want to go along?' she asked me. I told her yes. After awhile I wanted to come back. But she shooed me along."

Attracted By Bag of Candy.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Nov. 19—(AP)—A 20-year-old girl who likes children was charged with kidnaping little Jackie Gibbons today, while the child went home to his parents in Lexington, Ky.

The girl was registered at the police station as Bernice Lou Givens. She gave a Cincinnati address.

Sergt. G. W. Maupin of Lexington, expressing doubt that the case was one of kidnaping, said: "I believe she was just kind of a fanatic about kids, and she took a liking to this little boy and let him go along with her."

It was a bag of candy that first attracted the child to her, the girl told Sergeant Maupin; and it was his tears, when she tried to leave him, that induced her to take him with her.

Sergeant Maupin left for Lexington this morning with Miss Givens.

Tax Footings

Gage county reports a reduction of $83,000 in gross taxes for its citizens under 1934 levies but in Buffalo there is an increase of $23,000 according to reports from the county clerks received by State Tax Commissioner Smith

In the Gage county total of $800555, the county tax is $23,000 more than last year, with township levies up $5,000 and municipal revenue advanced a like amount. However, school taxes are $109,000 less and the state tax runs $14,000 under that of 1933 The levy of old age pensions, new this year, amounts to $5,287.

The county tax in Buffalo is $18,000 higher and township levies have increased nearly $3,000 offset in part by $10,000 saving on school taxes, $13,000 on municipal and $3,600 on state. For old age pensions the estimated revenue is $4,354 80.

MOTHER AND SON HURT IN CRASH

Car Hits Ditch After Side-Swiping Truck Near Waverly.

Mrs. Alice Dixon, 46, was injured, possibly seriously and her son, Donald, 26, was badly cut about the head when a car driven by Donald careened into the ditch after side-swiping a truck about a mile east of Waverly at 6 o'clock Sunday evening. The Dixons live at 825 J street.

Mrs. Dixon has a severe head injury and numerous bruises and cuts about the body. She suffered considerable shock. Don lost considerable blood from the cuts about the face and head. Both are being attended by Dr. Earl V. Wiedman at Bryan Memorial hospital, where attendants said Monday the mother and son spent a restful night.

Although the driver of the truck stopped, his name was not learned.

Francis T. Healey, 28, 6244 Havelock avenue, owner of the automobile which young Dixon was driving, was uninjured. He said the Dixons and he were returning to Lincoln from Omaha, where they had spent the day. The injured were taken to Waverly by a passing motorist and were given first aid there by Dr. A. L. Emery.

died of fractured skulls. He said the older girl had been assaulted.

The coroner said a shotgun, the stock broken and bearing bloodstains, was found under the Jones home. He said the younger child had evidently been killed first and that the two had been dead about twelve hours at the time the bodies, bound together with fodder twine, were found about 100 yards from the Jones dwelling.

Jones had a gun shot wound in one of his legs below the knee, which he claimed was accidentally inflicted.

Authorities said they learned the children left home Sunday afternoon after the parents had received a telephone call from Jones asking that they be sent to notify his wife that he would not be home until late. Officers said they established that soon after this call Jones went home.

A searching party was formed last night after the children had failed to return home. The bodies were found about 4 o'clock this morning.

Smith told authorities he took Jones to a point near the latter's home in a taxicab during the afternoon, but that he did not go within half a mile of the house.

The Hill children were members of a family of 17 children, of whom 12 are now living.

It was learned later that a fourth negro was taken by authorities to Roanoke for questioning. His name was given as John Pryor.

street station. The materials will cost about $900, the engineer estimated. Whether a request for a water main in Eighth street from Harrison to Hill street and east to Ninth street is granted will depend upon assurance that the abutting property owners will pay the assessments, according to Commissioner Doerr. "There are too many special assessments going by default," he declared, "to consider new improvements unless we know in advance that the payments will be made."

Asphalt Bids.

Clerk Berg was authorized to advertise for bids on 115 tons of asphalt that will be required to complete car track removal projects. The cost was estimated at $2,800.

Mayor Fleming announced the appointment of a music committee to help James Lewis, director of recreation with the pageant and parade opening the Christmas season in Lincoln November 30. Lewis Babst is chairman. The other members are A. H. Schmidt and Luther Andrews.

The bid of the Nebraska Auto Exchange on a passenger car for the electrical inspector, was approved upon the recommendation of A. C. Harm, head of the fire department The car, a 1935 Plymouth will cost $600 plus a used car.

An ordinance transferring from the street department to the police, the marking of curbs, painting traffic lines and the care of signs was to be read three times and passed by the council. It was introduced by Commissioner E. M. Blair.

December 3 was fixed as the date for hearings in eight condemnation actions being started by Building Inspector Lynn Myers.

ABOUT PEOPLE

J. M. Ralya who has been seriously ill for the past five weeks, is much weaker than reported two weeks ago, members of the family said Monday. Mr. Ralya is at Bryan Memorial hospital.

George Holmes returned Monday from Washington, D. C., where he attended a meeting of the board of directors of the United States chamber of commerce. He is a member of a committee which was making a report to the chamber. Enroute home he stopped off and saw the Northwestern-Notre Dame football game.

Cardinal Gasparri Is Taken by Death

ROME, Nov. 19—(AP)—Pope Pius today ordered the funeral of Pietro Cardinal Gasparri, former papal secretary of state who died last night, to be held at 10 a. m., Thursday.

The service will take place in Saint Ignatius church, conducted by Mgr. Tito Trocchi, auditor of the apostolic chamber.

CARDINAL GASPARRI.

Cardinal Gasparri died last night at the age of 82, after an attack of pneumonia. Considered the most noted prelate of the Catholic church except for Pope Pius, Cardinal Gasparri was nominated by the pope in 1932 to head the church after the pope's death.

Although he retired from office in 1930, Cardinal Gasparri remained an active worker. He was appointed secretary of state by Pope Benedict XV in 1914 and was retained when Pope Pius went into office in 1922. One of his major accomplishments was a codification of canon law.

STEWART SEEKS SENATE OFFICE

plan in detail, he would confine the system to state offices.

Likes Colorado System.

Stewart believes that such a system will give the party more control over its candidates and eliminate some of the abuses of the present primary system in Nebraska. While giving the parties more control over their nominees, to compensate for the theory of party responsibility, the Colorado system reserves to the mass of voters the right to nominate in open primary, and thus check bossism or machine dictation, he pointed out.

Senator Stewart's views on the one-house legislature correspond with those expressed by most of the members of the approaching, final two-house session. He advocates fixing the number in the unicameral diet at the maximum, 50, to preserve, he said, rural and small town representation.

Liquor a Problem.

Conceding that liquor legislation will be a problem, Stewart favors separation of beer and wine from hard liquor and permitting their sale by cafes, restaurants and hotels, while restricting sale of hard liquors, in packages, to liquor stores. He is opposed, he declared, to state monopoly of liquor sales.

Other democratic state senators who visited the capitol Monday were Frank Wells of Fairbury, Ivan H. Mattson of Kearney, and R. C. Regan of Columbus. This will be the first term for each in the senate, although Wells and Regan are veteran members of the house.

Regan said he favors fixing the membership of the one-house legislature at 50, the maximum number allowed by the constitutional amendment which the voters ratified.

Senator Wells, like Senator Stewart, will favor legislation providing for sale in packages only, the contents to be taken elsewhere for consumption. Wells also thinks a system of individual permits entitling holders to buy liquor should be provided.

BONDHOLDERS IN PARTIAL VICTORY

cessor trustee appealed and the partial reversal resulted.

The matter was argued in St. Louis on October 4 by Frank D. Williams for the First Trust company and R. A. Boehmer for the trustee. Judge Sanborn wrote the opinion, in which it is held that the bankrupt was acting as a trustee for the bondholders in paying the tax and insurance items but for itself in paying the interest items. As a result a first lien was given to the bondholders on the interest items.

Language of Opinion.

Significant portions of the opinion follow:

"In order to preserve the security of the bondholders, it was necessary for someone to pay the taxes. If they had not been paid, the security would have been lost Under the mortgage the bankrupt was given the right to pay them There was no provision that the bondholders should be notified in case of such payment.

"But the money advanced by the bankrupt for the taking up of interest coupons presented for payment stands in a very different situation. There was no provision in the mortgage that the mortgagee or trustee might pay such interest and have a lien therefor, there was no obligation upon it to advance interest and the advancement of interest had no relation to the preservation of security.

"Any right which the trustee of the bankrupt may have to look to the security for reimbursement for interest advanced is inferior to the liens of the bondholders

"The order of the referee which was confirmed by the lower court, was right insofar as it provided that the trustee in bankruptcy should have a first lien upon the mortgage security for the amount of taxes and insurance paid by the bankrupt in the preservation of the trust property without interest, and for the reimbursement of the trustee in bankruptcy for other necessary carrying charges out of rents received but wrong insofar as it allowed the trustee in bankruptcy a lien for interest advanced of equal rank with the liens of the bondholders. The case is remanded with directions to modify the order in conformity with this opinion."

PAIR DEAD ON GALAPAGOS ISLE

body, was that of a man. It developed later that the strange circumstance of a bundle of baby clothes nearby led to his belief the smaller body was that of a woman.

There is no communication with Charles island, the old convict isle that Charles Darwin a century ago called a paradise for naturalists.

Lonely Volcanic Rock.

The island on which the bodies were found is Marchena, a lonely little volcanic rock 120 miles northwest of Charles island. It lies more than 60 miles northeast of Chatham island, where a few Ecuadorean officials administer the island government.

There is no communication with these islands, save by fishing boats and occasional scientific expeditions.

The finding of baby clothes and description of the larger body as slightly bald led to first conclusions that it was that of the Wittmans. It was reported a packet of letters signed Margaret Wittman was found near the bodies. Also the passport of Lorenz was found in the pocket of the man's shirt.

But the Wittmans had no boat. An excerpt of one of the letters said.

"Must hurry now and complete this, because Arthur is waiting to take it to Lorenz, who is waiting in his sloop off Santa Maria island to take the mail to San Cristobal."

Santa Maria island is another name for Charles Island and San Cristobal the other name of Chatham, 56 miles from Charles.

Further Mystery.

Further mystery was added by receipt of a letter here July 30 by Capt. G. Allan Mancock, patron of science who visits the island each year.

This letter from Dr. Ritter said that the baron, Philopson and Lorenz had left mysteriously on June 16, and Ritter would have something to tell Captain Hancock next month when Hancock reaches there.

This suggested the bodies might be those of the baroness and one of her companions and the possibility that she might be expecting a child. However, First Officer W. Charles Swett of the Hancock cruiser, who knows all involved, said today that Lorenz, as he knows the baroness' companion, is very slight, and Philipson is not bald, but had a bushy head of hair.

Bryan Recounts End Of Husker, Tiger Clash 1931

Governor Bryan took occasion Monday to defend his record as a Cornhusker football fan by contradicting a published statement that he had never accepted any of the invitations from other states during his gubernatorial tenure to lend his presence at a game played by the Nebraska team away from its home field.

"Three years ago Mrs. Bryan and I went to Columbia, Mo., at the invitation of the governor of Missouri and the president of the university there and saw the exciting contest between the Tigers and our Cornhuskers," the executive reminded newspaper men.

With all the eclat of an enthusiastic gridiron fan, Governor Bryan recounted the sensational finish of the 1931 game, which ended in a Nebraska victory by 10 to 7.

Thrilling Finish.

"We had scored a field goal and were leading by that slight margin, with just a minute or two left in the fourth quarter," the governor said. "Missouri had the ball and was pressing us hard, close to the goal line. After a couple of plays one of its backs plunged through and it looked as though he had gone over. That, of course, would have meant 6 points more against us. The crowd went wild, and I offered my congratulations to the Missouri governor and university president, thinking we had lost. But the referee was busy unpiling the players, and when he finally located the ball it was still 6 inches short of the mark.

"So we all held our breath while the two teams lined up again. The timeclock showed only a few seconds remaining, but the Missouri team apparently didn't notice this, and before it got into action the final gun went off. Then it was the turn of the Missouri officials to congratulate me."

A telegram from President Fred Middlebush of the University of Missouri has been received by Governor Bryan, in reply to his invitation to the former to be here next Saturday for the Missouri game, saying he cannot be here. Governor Park of Missouri hasn't been heard from yet.

Consider Re-routing O Street Busses to Relieve Congestion

Because busses near O street interseections "are causing congestion and blocking traffic," city commissioners Monday were considering a ban on bus operation on the street. If the Traction company is forbidden to route its busses over the artery, the probable route will be down N street, commissioners said.

The question of congestion at intersections arose as a proposal by Ben Simon & Sons to restrict parking in front of their store was being discussed. The store's application says a thirty-day experiment with the parking restriction should be made. It was referred to the city attorney and the police chief for an opinion. Store officials claim their plan will alleviate downtown congestion.

All commissioners seemed agreed that something should be done to check the bus congestion, regardless of any action that may be taken on the proposal for banning O street to bus traffic.

4,483 Nebraskans Put To Work in October by Re-employment Service

The national re-employment service placed 4,483 men on PWA and federal highway jobs in Nebraska during October, F. V. Cornell, director, said Monday, while 2,393 others were found work in private employment.

Cornell said Nebraska's unemployed as of October 31 numbered 62,944. During October, 482 men were transferred from the county of their residence to jobs in other counties. These men were skilled laborers, Cornell said.

During the month, visits were made to 2,393 private firms in search of jobs.

Election Returns of 5 Counties Still Out

Secretary of State Swanson's office will communicate with the clerks of five counties which have failed to report their official election figures and try to get these belated returns in at once, so that the state canvassing board may perform its task of certifying the results of the next legislature.

The missing counties are Custer, Franklin, Nemaha, Sarpy, and Thurston. The last two coming in Monday morning were Knox and Nance. Tabulation of the vote by counties has been made as to all returns so far in, and when the five still out have reported it will take only a short time to get them into the tables, so that totals can be made for the entire state.

Palmquist Active In W.O.W. Contest Dies

Miss Amy Palmquist of the secretary of state's office was called to Omaha by the death of her father, which occurred Sunday night after a lingering illness. Mr. Palmquist was about 75 years old. He took a prominent part some years ago in conducting the fight on behalf of members of the W. O. W. fraternal organization against its conversion into an old line insurance company, being associated with W. B. Price, present state auditor, and others in that effort. The move, proposed by the management of the order, was defeated in the courts.

1,500 Copies Of N.U. Paper With Style Votes Gone

Fifteen hundred copies of the Sunday edition of The Daily Nebraskan, University of Nebraska student organ, disappeared sometime Monday morning from the Nebraskan office.

Officials of the paper see a connection between this disappearance of nearly half the full edition and a contest which the paper is sponsoring to determine the university's "most stylish co-ed." Each of the papers contained a coupon for 1,000 votes or a total of 1,500,000 votes. Thirteen girls are entered in the competition.

Nearly 3,000 copies of the Sunday Nebraskan were printed. Fifteen hundred copies went to sorority and fraternity houses Sunday morning. The copies taken were those designed for distribution to the rest of the student body and in downtown Lincoln Monday.

Freight Rate Reduced On Evaporated Milk

Beginning January 1, and continuing until June 30, 1935, the freight rate on condensed or evaporated milk from Lincoln to Grand Junction, Colo., will be 69½ cents per 100 pounds, according to word received Monday by W. S. Whitten, secretary of the chamber of commerce. From Coffeyville, Iola and Ft. Scott, Kas., the rate is 70½ cents per 100 pounds.

Effective June 30, Mr. Whitten said, the rate will be increased one cent per 100 pounds, indicating a reduction of 20½ cents, or $82 on a carload of 40,000 pounds. The new rate is the result of the chamber protesting a change announced last June by the Western Trunk Line committee, which fixed the Coffeyville to Grand Junction tariff at 68 cents. "The protest was made to protect local milk plants," Mr. Whitten said.

Marian Gordon

by JEANNE BOWMAN

SYNOPSIS: Lon Casad is working for McSwain, the contractor, and Marian Casad fears McSwain plots Lon's downfall. More, she knows McSwain is a crook, but cannot persuade Lon she is right. She and Lon have quarreled, and Lon has gone off for a night "with the boys." A garage man near the Casad house calls to say that Lon is there and drunk; when Lon is brought home and Doctor Steele has revived him it develops that Lon has been poisoned, however.

Chapter 36.

M'SWAIN CALLS.

"Lon poisoned?" echoed Marian.

"I should have said drugged," said Steele. "I've an idea what was used. I'm darned sorry I didn't see him earlier in the evening so I could prove it to my own satisfaction. It was probably given him in liquor and acted on him like a strong drink. Where was he and why?"

Marian repeated Murphy's story "He told me not to wait dinner on him as he was having a little . . . he called it a get-together with the boys. I imagined he meant some of the men with whom he was working."

"Don't you know?" questioned Anne in surprise.

"No," answered Marian, and because they were the two closest friends she and Lon possessed she spoke frankly. "We haven't been on very good terms this last week. I have objected to his working for McSwain because I know McSwain to be completely unscrupulous. McSwain, knowing how I felt, talked Lon into believing I felt that way because he and my father were political enemies. And so, Lon won't listen to me. And . . . and I'm afraid for him. McSwain has reasons to hate me."

"Hmmm," mused the doctor, then "Can you put us up for the night?"

"I'll be so relieved if you'll stay," confessed Marian, and hastened to make her spare room ready for them.

The clock struck two as she slipped into bed shivering with fatigue. For a long time she lay there listening to the even, restful breathing of Lon, afraid to stir for fear of interrupting it. What lay behind this illness?

Lon protested weakly at the breakfast allowed him by Doctor Steele. He seemed completely hazy about what had occurred the night before.

"We had a little conference at the office," he said to the others as they sat around the fire, "and then I drove Wilson and Meredith out to the Moroco brothers cafe. We had dinner. I wasn't hungry, thought I'd have Ian fix me a snack, so I just took a drink . . . one drink with them to show I wasn't high hatting them."

"When did you cash your check, Lon?"

"Right after that, the boys needed some money. Say Ian look in my pockets and see if the money's there."

Marian returned in a few minutes and handed a roll of greenbacks to Lon, then stood by as he counted them. "Hm," he said, "that's queer, two hundred dollars, must have been in a poker game."

"Lon," said Marian, "you mentioned McSwain's intention to give you a raise couldn't that account for the money?"

"But he wouldn't give me a hundred at one shot."

"Do you mean to say you get a hundred a week as foreman there? Ye gods, why did I ever waste my talents on medicine?" came from Doctor Steele.

"Isn't that unusual?" asked Anne.

"It is these days," admitted Marian. "Lon, you cashed your check. Don't you remember how much Murphy gave you?"

She looked at him stretched on the divan, cheeks chalk white, dark circles under his eyes. He closed his eyes as though striving to close out the faces around him and bring back the scene of the night before.

"No," he admitted at length, "the whole thing's hazy. I only remember . . . let's see. Wilson told me I'd better endorse it and then he used my fountain pen to endorse his . . . no I don't remember. Well, no more drinks for me, from now on where I go, little Ian goes to see I come home on all twos instead of all fours."

Marian and Anne left the two men together. They went "delicatessing," Anne called it, and when they returned Marian could tell by the stubborn expression on Lon's face that Doctor Steele had been talking to him with the familiarity of a boyhood friend.

Because she felt she couldn't stand the loneliness of Lonian Lodge, Marian accompanied Lon into town the following morning, leaving Waki and his wife in charge of the house and Hero.

She loitered about the shops, bought a smart small hat with which to charm Lon at lunchtime, and succeeded so well she almost forgot the fear which still hung over her. She called on John King found him out for the day, enjoyed a pictureized musical comedy and returned to the car.

Then together they returned home. Waki and May met them with smiling assurances that no one had called in person or on the telephone, excepting "one man he call. He say I like speak Missa Casad. I say he goona alla same work. He say goodbye."

After the Wakis had departed and dinner was over they sat before the fireplace in the restored intimacy of their honeymoon days, laughing over nothing, listening to favorite radio programs, discussing their future.

"And now to bed," she quoted as the clock chimed nine. "Hero, want to go for a walk first?"

She looked down. Hero was standing, ears straight up. Marian listened. There was a car coming into their place: it had stopped at the gate which they now kept padlocked at her insistence. And then a few moments later there came footsteps and, to the accompaniment of barking and growling on the dog's part, a rap at the door.

Lon dropped the door shutter—"Why, Mr. McSwain," he said in pleased surprise, "come in . . . back in town, this is a surprise."

McSwain stepped in and Marian, instinctively, reached down for a hold on Hero's collar.

"Take the dog out of the room," barked McSwain, "he doesn't like me and I don't like police dogs."

Marian stood still and looked at him, felt her temper rising like a flood, remembered what that temper had done in the past and obeyed, closing Hero in the kitchen.

She returned to find McSwain facing Lon, his eyes narrowed as Silver narrowed hers, his lips in a thin cruel line.

"Now young man," he snapped, "what's the meaning of this?"

He held out a slip of paper, retaining his hold on it allowing Lon only one edge.

Lon's brow furrowed. "Why . . . why I don't know Mr. McSwain, what do you mean?"

"Mean," came in a voice that brought a snarling protest from the dog in the next room, "I mean this check you cashed Saturday night, isn't this your signature on it?"

He turned the check over. Lon looked at the signature and nodded, "Yes that's mine," he answered, "but what's wrong with it?"

"Not a thing wrong with the signature but . . . don't stall, don't pretend you don't know what's wrong with this check . . . look here, I have the treasurer sign a pay check made out for one hundred dollars to one Lonel Casad. This morning that check showing visible evidence of having been tampered with, comes into the bank for two hundred dollars."

Marian caught her breath in an audible gasp. Two hundred dollars. Lon had come in with two hundred dollars Lon couldn't remember how much money Murphy had given him.

"Well, speak up, what's your excuse?"

"I . . . I don't answer every vestige of color had left his face.

"How about you young woman, have you driven your husband to raising checks?"

"No, Mr. McSwain," she answered calmly, "nor do I believe my husband raised the check."

"Is that so" As usual you know more than anyone else in the world."

"No," she answered coolly, "merely more than the District Attorney."

He turned on her now. "So that's it . . . you did it. He brought the check home. You weren't satisfied with the good salary I was paying him and you kited the check?"

"Just a minute, Mr. McSwain, that is my wife you are speaking to. You don't need to implicate her. She had nothing to do with it. I was the only one to handle the check. I was drunk—"

"Lon," Marian cried, "you were not—" and there she stopped. If she could prove he was drugged there was a chance to save him. Back in her mind a sudden suspicion was rearing its head. She mustn't let McSwain know anything.

"So you admit it," he said, "you admit you did this while you were drinking."

FIRST BAPTIST 'BIRTHDAY' ENDS

Read Letters Sent By Former Members at Sunday Service.

The sixty-fifth anniversary week of First Baptist church, Fourteenth and K streets, was climaxed Sunday morning in a program with three emphases—commemoration, father and son, and men and missions. Rev. Clifton H. Walcott's address "Man-Power in the Church," was built around these main points as he read letters from former members, and recognized the fathers and sons who were massed in the front of the auditorium.

"On this anniversary Sunday may fresh visions of the greatness of the church be brought to us," he urged. "And may our fathers and sons stand together in the house of worship and in the house of prayer. "If the church is to continue to grow through the years, we must all stand together with Christ and work together with God."

Read Letters.

A large part of the informal service was given over to reading letters from former members. This feature of the anniversary week program had first been scheduled for Wednesday night's homecoming services, but was carried over to Sunday morning as a special closing feature of the church's week-long "birthday party," Baptists first organized in Lincoln in 1869.

Elmore Mentions Repeal.

A letter from Dr. W. T. Elmore, who was pastor from 1918 to 1925, mentioned the recent Nebraska repeal of the prohibition amendment. "Kansas seems to be the only and spot left," he wrote, "but the last word has not been said about prohibition." The "setback will not be permanent" he predicted, as he sent a message of cheer to the present congregation.

Another letter from Dr. and Mrs. William Acksley, missionaries to Japan was stressed by Dr. Walcott as having particular meaning on "men and missions Sunday." Dr. Acksley's note described difficulties resulting from Buddhism, Shintoism, fascism and communism, but said "the empire is gradually being won for Christianity."

Other letters included those from Nelson Westover, who joined the church in 1872 and is now the oldest man member, and from Dr. and Mrs. Howard R. Chapman. Dr. Chapman, 66, was pastor of the First church here for eight years.

As a special feature of the father-son emphasis, Dr. R. E. Sturdevant, director of the choir, and his three sons, Clinton, Clifford and Ralph, sang the offertory selection, "Content" by Parks. A memorial tribute was paid to members who have died in the last decade.

Robert Porter Hurt When Car Hits Horse; Crash Kills Animal

When the car in which he was riding struck and killed a horse on east O street late Saturday night, Robert Porter, about 20, 5652 Calvert street, suffered numerous cuts about the head and face as flying glass from the shattered windshield struck him.

Porter was riding in a car driven by Kenneth Olson. The horse belonged to H. H. Leavitt.

The accident occurred just east of the gas booster station on east O street. Young Porter was taken to Bryan Memorial hospital, where he is being attended by Dr. O. Olson.

Iowa Woman Visiting Daughter Here Dies

Mrs. Lydia Wells, 75, of Cedar Rapids, Ia., died in a local hospital Saturday evening after a short illness. Mrs. Wells came to Lincoln to visit her daughter, Mrs. E. B. Hutchinson, 1345 South street, about three weeks ago and became ill shortly afterwards. She was taken to the hospital early last week. In addition to her daughter, Mrs. Hutchinson, she is survived by two sons, Frank Piedlan of Cedar Rapids, Ia., and Edward Piedlan of Arizona: one stepdaughter, Mrs. Dene Burk of Cedar Rapids, Ia.; and one stepson, Challen Wells of Chicago.

The body was taken to Cedar Rapids, Ia., Monday morning for funeral services and burial.

Minerva's Mail

TAKE YOUR TROUBLES TO MINERVA

The "Man's Woman."

She's a "man's woman" and she wants the whole world to know it. She just "can't get along with other women," in fact she "can't tolerate them." She far prefers to be with men. She can speak their language and finds them far more to her liking. Most of us have known women like that. And today "Eunice" writes a letter describing herself in these terms. Yet she laments that she is twenty-six years old and unhappily conscious of the fact that she is unwed and unsought while her friends are all marrying and establishing homes.

It doesn't pay to be a "man's woman." It isn't normal or balanced or womanly and it isn't popular.

Men enjoy going about with the woman who is vivacious, lively, a good sport and well able to take care of herself. He is amused by the girl who tries to be a man among men, who holds her own in arguments and in sports with them, who perhaps even holds her own in business. He may seek the advice of the "man's woman," who makes a point of being informed on his affairs.

But when it comes to sentiment, romance and marriage, he falls for the woman who is a woman's woman, a child's woman and makes him feel that she is only one man's woman.

For a permanent position in life, man prefers to be a beau rather than a pal, a protector rather than a partner, beloved and admired rather than too thoroughly understood.

Threatening Clouds.

Dear Minerva: Ten years ago, my husband deserted me and his three little children, running away with another woman. For five years, I struggled along any way and every way to make a living for those babies. Then I met, and eventually married a wonderful man. Where I had thought never again to love, I found that indeed I had never before loved. We had four pricelessly happy years together. He made a happy home not only for me, but for the children, giving them all the love that any real father could give. Then, overtaken by the depression, he lost his business, our home, everything. Last spring, he left for a distant state where his people are, living as farmers, hoping to find a refuge for us on some farm where we could earn our livelihood. I could get no work as book-keeper, which had been my former means of livelihood, but did secure work as housekeeper where I could have my children with me. My work is hard and my heart heavy so my letters to my husband have not been many. His letters to me have likewise been few and filled with discouragement and self-abasement at his failure. Now comes a letter from him in which he urges me to secure my freedom, as he has proven so complete a failure. On top of this is an anonymous letter, telling me that my husband has become interested in a young girl.

What am I to do or to believe? He has been nothing but a wonderful, trustworthy man to us all. All the while he has been away, he has sent us regularly some little money, probably most of his earnings, for he has been working merely as a farm hand for relatives. Existence has been possible for me because of my great love for him, and knowledge of his love for us. Without that, life is bleak and dreary. But what can I do, if he does want his freedom. If I could see him, I feel that everything would be all right. But with this distance between us, I don't know what to do other than accept whatever decision he wants to make. Why should one woman have to suffer so much hardship in a life time?—HAZEL.

A.—I advise you to write him a tender, loving letter, explaining how your whole world circles about him as its orbit, and refusing to consider him as a failure or to entertain any thoughts of severing the ties that are so dear to you. Don't tell him of the malicious letter you received. Tell him that if anything has happened to shake his love for you in so short a time, that you want the truth, but that your love is unchanged and your hopes of reunion undiminished.

I cannot believe that he is anything but a sadly discouraged man. A man who is all of a man might well feel that he had proven only a failure to you and want to give you your freedom. But a man who has shown the character that he has shown isn't likely to shift his love so quickly to another woman and thus desire to cast you and yours off. All evidence is to the contrary, so refuse to believe the vicious contents of the unsigned letter.

If facts should later prove that you have lost the love and companionship of the man you love, there is still happiness to be found in your family. I do not believe this deep shadow is going to fall over your life. But if it should, don't overlook that the next chapter may be one of great interest and happiness in your love and service for your children.

Just Friends.

Mrs. B. V.: I disapprove of a girl of thirteen "going with" boys. However, you should not emphasize this fact with your little girl and maybe an issue concerning her friendship with the neighbor boy who is fifteen. Encourage their companionship, but direct it in wholesome channels rather than permitting them to go on "dates" together. Encourage them to have home parties, where they may dance, and to go to afternoon picture shows rather than go out in the evening.

Today

Lincoln, 71 Years Ago

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

This date is November 19, and it is an anniversary important to every American.

On this day, seventy-one years ago, Abraham Lincoln stood on the Gettysburg battlefield, and, looking over the field where so many had died in honor on both sides, expressed for the whole country its determination that government of the people, for the people and by the people should not perish from the earth. School children are always made to read that Gettysburg address: grown men and women ask themselves to what extent that government of, for and by the people has succeeded, and is reality.

How firmly have we established the government of which Lincoln dreamed? Do the people really manage their government for themselves, or do they only criticize and applaud, according to their whim, while others govern them? Has Lincoln's dream of government not "perished from the earth," because it never really started?

Has there ever been a time when men governed themselves? Do they govern themselves now? How much power and influence have 121,500,000 of the country's 123,000,000 people in their government and in deciding what is done with them or their money? Do you feel that you have much to say about it?

The way to solve railroad problems, serious in the United States, with railroad trains empty, automobile, motor trucks taking their business, is to do something.

In Germany, where stream-lined trains were built and run as they were in Switzerland, long before anybody built one here, the director of the reich railways announces "stream-line, Diesel-powered freight engines, running at eighty miles an hour.

When you remember that W. Averill Harriman's stream-lined high speed train crossed the continent with a hundred passenger capacity at a total cost of about eighty dollars for fuel, you realize what Germany's high speed freight train will mean to quick transportation, and what it would mean to merchants and manufacturers in the United States.

France considers modifications of her method fixing the price of wheat. This country endeavors to increase wheat prices, and the farmer's income, by paying farmers not to plant so much. Make wheat scarcer, thus make it dearer. The French, apparently, have some other plan, which included encouraging the farmer to plant all he could. France being some times a wheat importing country.

American farmers will wonder how it has been possible for the French government to keep the price of what to the farmer at two dollars and forty cents a bushel while, at the same time, enabling citizens to buy bread at the usual prices.

Holdups Get $8 After Slugging Their Victim

Two men, who lurked in the shadows of a fence at the north end of the Standard Oil company warehouse, 1220 North Fourteenth street, assaulted Everett Coster, 20, 1500 North Fourteenth street, about 12:15 o'clock Monday morning, slugged him over the right eye and robbed him of a billfold containing $8 and personal papers, he told police.

No trace was found of the assailants. Police believed the men might be the same pair at whom Nightwatchman Ole Shamp fired two shots after he found them in a coal bin at the Sanford Coal company, 1120 North Fourteenth street. Shamp said the men failed to obey his command to halt and fled.

CATTLE FEEDING IS CUT IN HALF

Grain and Hay Scarcity Limiting Nebraska Operations.

Cattle on feed in Nebraska November 1 were estimated at less than 50 per cent of a year ago by E. V. Jones, assistant state and federal agricultural statistician, Monday. Indications point to greatly reduced feeding operations in the state the coming season, the report said.

Large operators are continuing operations on a reduced scale and feeding corn from 1933 carryover, much of which has been under seal. Operations vary, depending upon locality, operators ceasing entirely in some sections, hoping only to carry farm stock through the winter.

Scarcity and high prices for feed are the most discouraging factors in the cattle feeding situation, Jones said.

Few Sent In.

Shipments of stockers and feeder cattle into the state the past four months were at about half the rate a year ago, and it is to be expected, according to Jones, that some of these will not be put on feed, but will be wintered on roughage.

While shipments in October of stockers and feeders in 11 cornbelt states were the smallest in 15 years, the July to October shipments this year the second smallest in 15 years, and shipments into western cornbelt states lowest on record, shipments into drouth-stricken states, while unusually low, appear rather large in view of the serious feed shortage, Jones pointed out. A large proportion of cattle shipped into cornbelt states are light weight steers and calves.

Mrs. Elshie Miller, Ulysses Resident For Half Century, Is Dead

Mrs. Elshie Miller, 81, who has lived since 1882 on the farm she and her husband, the late Louis L. Miller, homesteaded five miles north of Ulysses, died at her home about 1 o'clock Sunday morning.

Mrs. Miller came to the United States from Germany in 1881 and came to Nebraska one year later. She was a member of the Methodist church at Garrison.

She is survived by four sons, Albert and Fred, both at home, and Frank and Andrew, both of Mt. Vernon, S. D.; two daughters, Mrs. L. E. Hanna of Ulysses and Anna at home; and one sister, Mrs. Chris Rathjen of Lahoma, Okla.

The body is at the home in charge of Helmsdoerfer's.

Rising Mercury Dispels Outlook For Snow Storm

The mercury in Lincoln Monday morning pushed up to 54 degrees at 7 o'clock, confounding weather observers' predictions of snow. The coldest temperature noted in Lincoln in the last 48 hours was the 43 reading at 11 o'clock and noon Sunday. The highest of the period was 58 degrees at 1, 3 and 4 o'clock Sunday morning.

Total rainfall in Lincoln for the same period was .23 of an inch, bringing the total for the month to 1.23 inches, slightly more than the normal precipitation of 1.20 inches. The weather bureau reported a light snow falling in Yellowstone park Monday morning and a light rain in Omaha.

Good rains fell over the eastern sections of the state Saturday afternoon and Sunday morning, ranging from showers to an inch and a half, the Burlington reported. From Abbott to Ravenna 1½ inches was recorded and also from Cushing to Palmer. The entire Wymore division had about an inch of rain.

Most of the rest of the state was cloudy but appeared to be clearing off Monday morning.

Genevieve Tobin, Screen Actress, Is Hurt As Car Skids

MONTECITO, Cal., Nov. 19—(AP)—Injured when the automobile in which she was riding with her mother skidded and crashed into a palm tree near Ventura, Genevieve Tobin, screen actress, suffered a fractured shoulder, cuts and bruises. Her mother, Mrs. Genevieve Tobin, 50, suffered a similar injury.

Their condition was reported as "quite good." The actress suffered no facial injuries, her physician reported.

8 DIE IN STORM ON WEST COAST

Wind and Rain Lash Frisco Area; Snow Blocks Mountain Roads.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19—(AP)—A wind and rain storm which lashed northern California was blamed for at least eight deaths today, while in the Sierra Nevada mountains highway crews battled huge drifts of snow.

The storm, which centered off the coast also was felt in the Pacific northwest and the far western plateau region.

In the San Francisco bay area, where all of the deaths occurred, the storm uprooted trees, interrupted electric and telephone service in some sections, choked street drains and flooded basements of homes.

Five of the deaths were in automobile accidents, which police said were caused by the blinding rain and slippery pavements. Three men drowned in San Francisco bay after a squall swamped their light fishing boat.

More than three feet of snow was reported at Donner summit.

Recover Three Cars

All three automobiles, reported stolen Saturday evening or Sunday morning, had been found undamaged Monday morning, police said.

CHANGE IN FACES.

IN MISSISSIPPI, President Roosevelt made direct reference to one of the intangible elements in America which furnishes foundation for encouragement and satisfaction. It is the change in mass attitude. As the president put it, while he was whirling across sections of the Old South on his way to Warm Springs, the great outstanding thing which had impressed him was the change in the looks on people's faces.

"It has not been only a physical thing. It has not been the contrast between what was actually a scarcity of raiment two years ago or a lack of food two years ago—the contrast between that and better clothing and more food today—but it is something in people's faces, and I think you understand what I mean. There wasn't much hope in those days. People were wondering what was going to come to this country. And yet I see not only hope, but I see determination—knowledge that all is well with the country and that we are coming back."

That, it may be assumed, is not a statement projected largely to meet the needs of political psychology. Not the least of the burdens Mr. Roosevelt has had to bear was the unuttered despair and hopelessness of people. Men and women did not put it into words. But it was there all of the time, silently clutching at their hearts, reflecting itself in their eyes, in their faces, in their bearing and in their actions. It furnished a strange atmosphere wherever thousands were congregated And it was a strange atmosphere for a nation which traditionally had been buoyant, bold, and apparently able to meet every setback with jest and with laughter. But there was no laughing and no jesting two years ago. There was a grim somberness, an unconscious tenseness which was appalling to those who looked over seas of faces and with practiced, experienced eye attempted to read the thought back of that mass of humanity.

The first reaction to it must have been a sense of terrifying responsibility.

There was the necessity of re-establishing broken faith. That was at the bottom of this hopelessness. People could not surmount what in millions of cases they regarded as shattered confidence and betrayed trust. They were looking for some one with the magic which sympathy and understanding give, to lead them out of their trouble. It was not solely a matter of empty stomachs or of shabby raiment. It was a cry for spiritual warmth, which comes from an expression of sound, honest, and wholesome ideals. They were seeking, in simplest terms, the leadership of a man who promised no miracles, but who pledged a whole-hearted effort on behalf of those who were lost, and who had for his goal a realization of social justice.

Now we're on the way back. Those who lay it to a specific mechanism do not understand the heart of America. It is easy to pick flaws in any man made program or man made administration of plans. It is not hard to attack sincerity, honesty of purpose, and fearlessness. It is not easy to destroy the faith that people instinctively place in men who by their words and their actions, bespeak a genuine common, homely solicitude for the welfare of people. That is Mr. Roosevelt's source of popularity. His critics may beat their fists against his big, broad chest, but the man himself rises above their blows.

So America is laughing more, functioning naturally and normally, thinking as it was accustomed to think, living much as it was in earlier days. It is on its way back.

HERE COMES THE BRIDE.

WHAT America needs more than a good 5-cent cigar is a fashionable wedding.

Over in London Prince George and Princess Marina will be married soon, and it means around a million dollars in new business. They say store clerks are busier than a one-armed paper hanger with the itch, selling to wedding guests.

The wedding, it is estimated, will cost George's dad, the king, a cool $100,000.

Even a cat may look at a king, but it's going to cost from $50 to $500 for a peek upon royalty's biggest society show in a decade. To give a greater number a chance to see them, the newlyweds will take a long way around to and from Westminster abbey, where the knot will be tied. Owners of property along the route are charging as much as $150 for a quarter of a window to see the procession. Choice spaces cost even more. Wooden stands are being erected in all available places and are being snapped up at $50 each.

The carnival week of the wedding will draw a million persons to London. Not since the war will so much wealth and fashion be on parade.

The only person in America we can think of now who might attract a crowd is Mae West. For the other half we were going to suggest Huey Long, but he's already married.

THE WRONG TURN.

CONSIDER the plight of Sgt. Juci Honda.

He was in command of the automobile which was piloting Emperor Hirohito on an inspection trip to Kiryu center of the silk industry in Japan. He took a wrong turn with the result that Emperor Hirohito arrived at his destination at the Nishi Technical college twenty minutes ahead of schedule, and the minister of education was not garbed properly to receive him. It is said the emperor cooled his heels for twenty minutes until Matsuda got into his clothes.

Sgt. Honda returned to his home, put on his best uniform, and then slashed his throat in fulfillment of the code. It's a silly code. Here in America any dignitary would have treated the whole episode as a big joke, but in Japan, it precipitates a national crisis, which may force the resignation of the minister of education, and may cost the life of a devoted officer.

THE COUNTRY CHURCH.

A RECENT item notes the passing of a country church in Richardson county. Abandoned, because its congregation could no longer support a pastor, it was sold at auction.

The gradual decline of the country church these few years past must awaken a sense of sadness in many a heart. Prompted by the desire to hear Sunday sermons in more impressive structures and by the fascination which "driving to town" carries, rural people in many communities are going to city churches. Does this trend, one well may wonder, signify the inevitable dissolution of the country church, the passing of an epoch?

Born of the deep and happy companionship among country folk, the rural church has played an integral part in the life of the state. The little white edifices, whose cheerful spires dot Nebraska's countryside, are symbols of rural community life deserving of highest tribute.

The turning of the virgin sod signaled the settling of the state. The birth of the country church evidenced the establishment of community life. Primarily a center of worship, the rural church has been infinitely more than that. It has been knitted closely into the existence of Nebraska's country people "from the cradle to the grave." It has been woven with fine spirit and tenderness into the very fabric of their lives.

Many a sunny spring afternoon have those modest structures played host to a happy bridal party; many a bleak day have they housed a cheerful quilting bee. There, on Sunday, the good folk have gone to pay homage to their God. Humbly, quietly—knowing that glorious sort of weariness brought on by a week's toil in the field—the farmer has known deep devotion in such churches as these. There have his children been baptized, there have they learned the fineness of Christian living.

Near the church is the churchyard. There are the final resting places of many a pioneer. It was just such churchyards and such people as these that inspired Thomas Gray's immortal elegy nearly two centuries ago:

> Beneath those rugged elms, that yew-tree's shade,
> Where heaves the turf in many a mouldering heap,
> Each in his narrow cell forever laid,
> The rude forefathers of the hamlet sleep....
> Oft did the harvest to their sickle yield,
> Their furrow oft the stubborn glebe has broke;
> How jocund did they drive their team afield,
> How bowed the woods beneath their sturdy stroke!
> Far from the madding crowd's ignoble strife,
> Their sober wishes never learned to stray;
> Along the cool sequestered vale of life,
> They kept the even tenor of their way.

Should abandonment of such churches continue it will mark the passing of something very noble and very fine. 'Far from the madding crowd' the country church has stood—mutely but in the hallowed sort of glory which accrues with successive years of service. A shrine to which its people have turned with their hopes and fears, in moments of great joy, of deep sadness, it has instilled a wholesome idealism into the life blood of the state. One hopes that the present trend away from it is but a temporary malady, that the better days ahead will see it take on new vigor, that it will continue to stand—a symbol of all that is good in rural community life.

PLUSSES OUTWEIGH THE MINUSES.

AMONG 22 of the principal cities of the United States which are recognized leaders in manufacturing, trade, and finance in their respective sections, 19 reported good gains in bank clearings for the week ended November 14. The only ones that fell behind the corresponding week of 1933 were New York, Boston, Buffalo, and Cleveland.

New York ordinarily accounts for over two-thirds of the clearings in the entire country. This represents principally the transactions from all states of the union in stocks, bonds, and other securities, as well as in metals, cotton, wool, sugar, tobacco, and various other commodities, which are handled through the big exchanges. Not only the speculative business of the country, but also investments and a considerable amount of hedging, are centered there. Such business has fallen off greatly in volume from a year ago; and so New York registers a marked decrease in number and amount of bank instruments drawn.

But the other cities which depend on production and sale of goods and services for their prosperity show no such recession. They are well ahead of last year.

Boston failed to keep up with the procession because it, like New York, depends in a great degree on stocks and bonds as the measure of its activity. Cleveland dropped behind partly as a result of the A. and P. stores difficulty and partly as a result of the seasonal closing down of lake steamer traffic. Buffalo also suffers from cessation of shipments on the great lakes. Aside from these, the business picture as seen in the bank clearings table is quite cheerful.

Philadelphia and Detroit, the two great hubs of manufacturing industry, are ahead of a year ago by 7.7 and 39.8 per cent, respectively. Cincinnati shows a gain of 20.6 per cent; Baltimore, 20.2; New Orleans, 34.8; Kansas City, 21.3; Omaha, 11; Dallas, 9.2; San Francisco, 10.7; and Seattle, 30.1.

These gains are distributed to every part of the United States and indicate that the general current of business is upward. Outside of New York, a gain of $122,000,000, or 9.4 per cent, is shown, including the three other cities that reported smaller clearings than a year ago.

The United Business Service in its weekly survey takes an exceedingly hopeful view. Consumer incomes, it says, are higher and demand for retail merchandise is steadily expanding. Christmas trade is expected to exceed that of a year ago, which was quite satisfactory to merchants.

There doesn't seem to be any reason for looking at the future through dark-colored glasses, if present barometers of business are to be relied upon.

In 1883 a woman rented two safety deposit boxes in a Cleveland bank and never came back. The bank, now in liquidation, guarded the property for 50 years. When the boxes were opened the other day they contained a water pitcher, six cups and saucers, a box of nails, screws and twine, a sock without a mate, a bed sheet, spread, bureau cover, some faded asters, a towel rack, a whiskbroom, a sea shell, two tumblers, and seven books.

QUESTION.
Atlanta, Ga.

Do you mind stating which you think will be the religion of the future, Catholicism or Protestantism?

ANSWER.

Both of these branches of Christianity have many things in common and both are closely related to Judaism's prophetic messages. Yet were they one tomorrow, their endeavor to be "the religion of the future" would be severely contested by the other world faiths which are dominant in Asia and Africa.

I believe that the Christianity of Christ as distinguished from any inferior presentations by his disciples is the most convincing appeal that can be made by God to the human reason, conscience, heart and will. I also believe that His Spirit is the animating power of His religion and that it is ultimately destined to draw all men to Him as their Redeemer and Lord.

The real point underlying your inquiry is whether the civilization of the immediate future shall be secular or spiritual. The late Bishop Woods of Winchester, England, asked in the same connection whether man's moral growth had not been outstripped by his mechanical progress. The materialistic theory which assumed this to be the case has been thoroughly discredited in philosophical circles, but its practice survives in manifold forms and assails the existence of a central spiritual authority over life and morals, lodged in the God of our fathers and in our Lord's revelation of Him and of His purposes. Meanwhile cash and comfort are for many the twin deities of the age.

Christian doctrine is regarded by a growing number as unequal to the strain imposed on it by historical criticism. Christian morals are dismissed as "Victorian," rather than eternal. Coincident with this worship of the temporal and rejection of a great and historic religion is the colossal increase in man's command over nature. It would seem that he has released forces which in their economic development threaten to degrade him into a mere machine. One perceives the prevalence of an innate vulgarity of soul in conjunction with irreverence for and blindness to essential values. These things are symptomatic of the decline of the spiritual element and, if continuously encouraged, of its final death in given groups.

Please note that I use the phrase "the immediate future" in dealing with your question, and with the widespread condition referred to above, for I am convinced that such a situation cannot be permanent. It plainly challenges believing men and women of every creed, and it is not beyond hope, or even of probability, that in their efforts to overcome its ravages they may find a oneness now foreign to their thought.

The outlook is encouraging, and menacing evils may yet prove blessings in disguise for the religious life of the world. Young people, notwithstanding much that is said to the contrary, are intent on the realization of high realities, cost what they may. Their elders evince a new community consciousness and a more sane and ethical outlook on international problems. The declarations that nothing is secular except sin and that Christ's reign over all life is its sole protection and safety, are constantly heard at home and abroad. The churches are being forced into federation by the pressure of these factors. Above all else God is forever the moral Sovereign of the universe and of man.

QUESTION.
Little Rock, Ark.

God is always spoken of in the masculine, and yet is not the creative function in nature more directly in the control of the female species? Has not man hitherto denied the importance of women in the creative process? I am a woman and have escaped and been liberated from God's worship of Himself.

What do you think of that philosophy?

ANSWER.

If you believe you should call God Mother no law of religion or of logic known to me prevents you. He is not called Father to exalt the masculine at the expense of the feminine but to convey to His children of both sexes their most tender and comprehensive awareness of His Being as the God of love and power. Since He is Sovereign and Parent in one I suggest that the designation you criticize is the most expressive. All human language is sadly inefficient for so transcendent a purpose, but Christ Himself taught us to say "Our Father."

Even that august word is but a metaphor. Nevertheless, it has done more to help our realization of the Everlasting One than any other. The significance of man's relation to Him is not in names nor even in man's physical origin but in his moral and spiritual resemblance to his Creator. It we regard ourselves as simply the creatures of His omnipotence, then He is our Maker and nothing more. But if we believe His divine image resides in our souls and that these are a spark from His eternal flame, He is indeed our Father and we are His children.

As a matter of fact, Biblical teachings portray Him as possessing in perfection every benevolent trait we associate with both parents. The tenderness, compassion, patience, wisdom and self-sacrifice which distinguish Christ's revelation of God probably justified the great divine who once began his prayer: "Our Father and also our Mother." After every aweinspiring and devotional name has been offered to God, He is forever the Lover and Redeemer of men whose mercy and goodness are inexpressible.

So continue your thinking and meanwhile compromise, if so disposed, by addressing our Maker as our "Parent." However, I believe that custom has long since settled this issue beyond change and that God will continue to be named as the Everlasting Father.

Meanwhile, will you be good enough to point out to American men where the power they have usurped is stored? Some of them need a little of it for self-defense against designing and predacious ladies who believe that our republic is the feminine paradise. What their men folk think about it is entirely another matter. There is no country in the world where womanhood is more highly honored and deferred to than the one you live in. A visit to another land would enable you to appreciate this fact more fully.

CALORIC VALUE MAKES BEER FATTENING FOOD

Would you please settle a question which seems to have caused a great difference of opinion among all groups whom I know, as to whether or not beer is fattening?"

Dr Clendening

This ought to be an easy question to settle. Alcohol furnishes about seven calories per gram. Beer, besides alcohol, also contains about 1 percent of sugar, and small amounts of material which are used as food substances. A pint of beer, therefore, has a caloric value of 191 calories.

And this is in the form of rapidly absorbed and nearly completely oxidizable material. If, therefore, you eat enough to nourish you and also add two bottles of beer a day, you have added 380 calories, which are sparers of protein and fat, and will probably be added to your body weight. If you drink the beer and cut down on the food or increase your exercise, the fattening effect will be withheld.

I have explained in this column several times that there is no such thing as a fattening food, and no such a thing as a thinning food. Every food has a certain capacity to nourish the body and add tissue and supply energy. The only distinction that you can make is that certain foods, such as grapefruit, have so much bulk that they satisfy hunger without furnishing much nutriment, and so can be classified as thinning foods.

Other foods, like candy, furnish an enormous amount of energy in small compass and, therefore, are fattening. The same bulk of grapefruit and candy, for instance, would have entirely different effects, but 100 calories of grapefruit and 100 calories of candy are equally fattening.

Beer, on account of its caloric value and easy absorbability, must distinctly be classified as a fattening food.

This does not mean, however, that beer is a complete food. Chemists and brewers admit that practically the food value of alcohol, and even of beer, is inconsiderable. The quantity necessary to nourish the system would be so large as to act as a poison.

"How inconsiderable the food value of beer really is can be judged from an analysis made by Prof. Walter H. Eddy of Columbia university of six leading brands of beer sold under the law in New York City in the year 1933. These six bottled beers contained from 4.04 per cent to 6.14 per cent of solids by volume. The alcohol content varied from 2.78 per cent to 3.82 per cent.

The total calories, both those of the alcohol and starch and protein, averaged 191 per pint for the six varieties of beer (both light and dark). Even including the alcohol calories in beer, which are not available for growth and nutrition as the nutrient calories are, a pint of beer averages less than two-thirds the caloric value of a pint of milk."

ANOTHER HUNTER KILLED.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 19—(AP)—Death of a 15-year-old boy today brought to four the number of lives lost in Minnesota's deer hunting season, which opened last Tuesday and ends next Sunday. The latest victim is Harvey Nelson, 15, who was mistaken for a deer and killed instantly by Claude White, 40.

Farmer Brown's Boy Wonders

Whate'er you do, you'll find the deed
Is like the planting of a seed;
But what the fruit thereof may be
You can't with certainty foresee.
—Farmer Brown's Boy.

"I told you you were safe here," said he

Of course, it was Farmer Brown's Boy who was daily scattering corn in the Smiling Pool for Mr. and Mrs. Quack the Mallard Ducks, and he was getting great joy in doing it. And, of course, in his heart was no thought of treachery. So far as he was concerned those Ducks were as safe as if in all the Great World there were no such things as terrible guns. He was feeding them out of kindness and for the joy of knowing that so long as they remained there they were safe.

And the Quacks had gradually come to an understanding of this. For many days they were suspicious, very suspicious. At the approach of Farmer Brown's Boy they left hurriedly. When they returned they circled high above the Smiling Pool, until they were certain that all was safe; that there was no hunter with a terrible gun hidden there. At last they understood, and they would allow Farmer Brown's Boy to come quite near before taking to their swift wings.

Peter Rabbit continued to visit them in the early evening. "I told you you were safe here," said he. "Everybody is safe with Farmer Brown's Boy around. He won't let anything happen to anybody if he can help it. It is too bad you cannot stay here all winter."

"I wish we could," replied Mrs. Quack with a sigh.

"You are looking a lot better than you did when you arrived," said Peter.

"Why shouldn't we with plenty to eat and no worries," said Mr. Quack as he dressed his feathers.

"My, but you are handsome!" said Peter admiringly.

"Isn't he?" said Mrs. Quack. "I dress very plainly myself, but he makes up for it." Mr. Quack was handsome. There was no question about that. With his glossy green head, white collar, rich chestnut neck and breast, and the violet patch on each wing, he presented a fine appearance. Farmer Brown's Boy thought so.

"What I can't understand is, why any one wants to destroy so beautiful a creature," said he. Then he remembered how there had been a time when he had loved to hunt and he understood how with many it was the thrill of the hunt, and not just the desire to kill, that led them afield. But when he thought of those who baited Ducks, feeding them to win their confidence before shooting them, his heart filled with scorn for these killers, in whose hearts was neither sportsmanship nor trace of decency and fair play.

And then Farmer Brown's Boy began to wonder if he should have fed Mr. and Mrs Quack. Yes, sir, he began to wonder and to worry a little.

"Of course, they are all right as long as they stay here in the Smiling Pool," thought he. "They couldn't be in a safer place. But I wonder if I should have fed them, and should keep on feeding them. Having fed here so long in safety, they may have forgotten about those baited waters where the hunters lie in wait. If when they leave here on their way to their winter home in the Sunny South they find corn scattered in the water for them they may feel that all is safe because it has so long been safe here. I wonder if they will. If I really thought they would, I would stop feeding them. Yet I can't let them go hungry. I simply can't do it."

Meanwhile, in peace and good living, Mr. and Mrs. Quack had ceased to think of the long journey ahead and its dangers. There would be time enough for that when they started.

The Work Week.
Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 19.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Believing that no deserving citizen should be denied a citizen's right to share in the opportunity to work, I submit this national regulated shorter flexible work week as a temporary measure for your consideration.

I believe that congress should either grant the president power to put this measure into effect or that congress grant the president power to appoint a commission, approved by congress, to put this measure into effect:

1—To shorten the work week throughout the nation from time to time until all unemployed have joined in the opportunity to work.

2—At his or their discretion, to lengthen the work week throughout the nation at such times as is deemed advisable for the best interest of those employed.

3—In the event earnings of individual employers may not show a fair profit under increased payrolls due to an increased number of employes without wage reduction, such individual employers should be given an opportunity to prove the lack of such fair profit and relief funds should then be assigned to him in sufficient amount to cover the payroll deficit. GLENN M. HOSTERMAN.

In The New Light.
Gilcrest, Colo., Nov. 15.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: In your issue of the 14th a Lincoln preacher who signs himself "A 1934 Curiosity" writes very scathingly against modernism in religion. Since I cannot write to him directly I should like to answer him briefly through your columns.

I contend that he is not a curiosity for alas we find altogether too many people like him who refuse to accept the findings of science, who refuse to allow themselves to believe that which our best minds have proclaimed as truth. This preacher is not a curiosity but an anachronism since he is living physically in the year 1934 but mentally he belongs to the Middle Ages. The orthodox believers of the Middle Ages had some excuse for clinging to their beliefs as they had no chance to get the truth but this preacher has no such excuse.

Suppose what he claims is true, what would happen? I, as a practitioner of medicine, would have to accept the Bible as infallible truth and instead of accepting the findings of medical science I would have to accept the idea that diseases were caused by evil spirits and to cure these diseases I would have to resort to exorcism instead of our modern methods of therapy. This is sufficient to show the absurdity of his reasoning.

Then he claims that Cadman and the Modernists are doing more to destroy the foundations of good government than all the Tom Paines and Ingersolls. He should study the lives of both these men more closely. Tom Paine was a very potent factor in the formation of the Declaration of Independence and our constitution and he was held in such high esteem that President Thomas Jefferson ordered an American vessel to be placed at his services when he wished to come back to this country for the last time. And anyone who has read any of Ingersoll's writings need not be told that he was a champion of good government. Much more could be said in refutation of this preacher's letter but this must suffice this time.
DR. J. PESTAL.

Quivera.

To Nebraska's smiling region,
Long before it bore that name,
Came the Spaniards, runs the story,
Seeking rare and golden fame.
Where the easy Platte is flowing,
And the Elkhorn and the Blue,
Camped the swarthy, southern dreamers.
Pleased and eager with the view.

But Quivera—glorious kingdom!
And strange cities strewn with gold—
Failed to loom before the vision
Of that grasping band of old;
Eyes they had not for the beauty
Of the prairies rolling green.
Thought they had none for the treasure
Wrapped in that primeveal scene.

Centuries go by. Quivera
Stands revealed unto the gaze—
Not in gems of looted natives,
Not in palaces ablaze
With the jewels of slain rulers—
Not in these, but truer far
Has Nebraska spread her riches,
Under her glad western star.

In her fertile, gracious homesteads,
Sloping upward to the plains,
In her streams by timber skirted,
In her timely, prospering rains,
From the ideals of her people,
Schools and highways of the best,
Rise the sky-domes of Quivera,
Lift the splendors of the West.

A 10 Year Program.
Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 19.

To the editor of the Lincoln Star: The proposed budget of the state board of control for the ensuing biennium, asking a largely increased amount, calls attention to the well known fact that an extensive building program for our state institutions is needed. The success of the capitol levy should convince us that a similar plan should be carried out for the needed improvements at our state institutions. The capitol levy was so small that its payment was scarcely noticed by the taxpayers, yet it enabled Nebraska to build the most beautiful capitol in the republic, and one of the ten finest public buildings in the world, and pay for it as it was constructed. Why not a commission similar to the capitol commission to plan a program of institutional improvements over a period of ten years, and then a levy no larger than the capitol levy to carry it out? Would that not be better than attempting to build piecemeal by burdensome appropriations?

And while on the subject of improvements, for heaven's sake do something about the miserable brick pavement on K street fronting our magnificent capitol!

Fred Frahm Placed On Trial For Murder In Garden County

SAID TO HAVE SLAIN BROTHER

Alleged To Have Told Detective of Killing John Frahm.

OSHKOSH, Neb, Nov 19—(AP)—Selection of a jury for the first degree murder charge of Fred Frahm of Sidney, held for the death of his brother, John, started in District court here Monday.

The twelve men who are selected to serve as jurors will be called on to determine if John Frahm, Glendale, Ariz., oil operator who disappeared in 1928 was slain and if a skeleton dug from a shallow grave near here several months ago was his.

More than 60 witnesses from three states have been subpoenaed for the trial.

John Frahm, left Sidney November 7, 1928, and his burned automobile was found near Julesburg, Colo., five days later. Fred told officers he accompanied his brother to North Platte, where they parted.

Attorneys have indicated the defense may dispute wheter the state actually has John Frahm's body. Officers found a body in a shallow grave near here early this year.

The state claims Fred told a private detective, pretending to be a criminal, he had slain John Frahm and that Fred disclosed the approximate location of the grave.

Fred Frahm cashed a $1,000 check signed "John Frahm" at Wahoo, Neb., after John's disappearance. Fred said he forged the signature and spent two years in prison.

Louisville People Want Free Bridge

LOUISVILLE, Neb, Nov. 19—(AP)—A mass meeting will be held here Thursday to start plans for legislation to make the present bridge over the Platte river free. The state and Cass and Sarpy counties bought the bridge, the state paying half of the cost. The other half was to be repaid from tolls and then the bridge was to be made free. Citizens want a bill introduced in the next legislature to appropriate funds for the other half so tolls can be eliminated now.

FATHER-SON BANQUET.
(Special to The Star.)

PANAMA, Neb. Nov. 19 — A father and son banquet was held at the Presbyterian church here last Thursday evening, attended by sixty-nine fathers and sons. The meal was served by the women's Bible class under the direction of Mrs. Davies. The toastmaster was Rev. Penry Davies and the address was delivered by Rev Ray Hunt of Lincoln. The oldest father present was R. G Dickson and the oldest son was Thomas G. Dickson, while the youngest father was Irwin Steeves and the youngest sons were Jimmy Obbink and Dickie Hunt. Ira Hedges had charge of the singing.

WAYNE MAN INJURED.

WAYNE, Neb., Nov. 19—(AP)—Edwin Theis, 25, of Wayne was injured severely Sunday when his clothes caught in the drive shaft of Leslie Swinney's automobile which he was helping push out of a ditch. Theis was injured severely two years ago in an automobile accident.

Schmadewsky President Young Men's Conference

FREMONT, Neb., Nov. 19—(AP)—Arthur Schmadewsky of Omaha is the new president of the Nebraska Young Men's conference, which closed its meeting here Sunday. Schmadewsky was elected to succeed Paul Bogott of Lincoln. The conference designated Beatrice as its next meeting place. Other officers named were Elmer Oppliger of Columbus, vice president, and Dale Carpenter of Beatrice, secretary and treasurer. Speakers at the closing session included Charles Musselman of Omaha, state Y. M. C. A. secretary, William E. Reed of Omaha, and the Rev. B. B. Baird of Fremont.

TAKE THREE ON HOLDUP CHARGE

Said To Have Wounded North Platte Grocer Friday Night.

KEARNEY, Neb, Nov. 19—(AP)—Officers arrested two men here Saturday night and obtained confessions from them in connection with the shooting of Austin Gregg, North Platte grocer, when an attempt was made to rob him last Friday night. F. E. Sherwood, 22, of Fleming, Colo., and Vernon Pickrell, 27, of Kearney, the men arrested, were taken to North Platte late Sunday.

Sherwood was arrested at a dance when an officer noticed the automobile he was driving answered the description of the car used in the North Platte holdup attempt.

Sheriff Flake said Sherwood admitted his part in the holdup and implicated Pickrell. The sheriff said Pickrell signed a confession, admitting he fired the revolver. Officers found a loaded .38 caliber revolver in the car Sherwood was driving. Gregg, who was shot in the left lung, is expected to recover.

Sheriff Flake said Sherwood admitted he was wanted at Aurora, where he escaped from the county jail last June. Sherwood was given the keys to his cell by a friend who visited him.

The car taken from Sherwood here was stolen from Hugo, Colo., officers said.

Third Man Taken.

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. Nov. 19—(AP)—A third man, Harry Dunn, 23, of Lexington, is in Lincoln county jail here in connection with the shooting of Austin Gregg, North Platte grocer, in a holdup attempt here last Friday night.

Dunn was implicated in the affair, Sheriff Salisbury said, by F. E. Sherwood of Fleming, Colo., and Vernon Pickrell of Kearney, who were arrested at Kearney. Sherwood and Pickrell were brought here Sunday. Dunn was arrested at Lexington.

FATHER-SON BANQUET.
(Special to The Star.)

FILLEY, Neb., Nov. 19— The annual father and son banquet will be held in the Methodist church here Friday evening. Supt. E. L. Novotny of Beatrice will give the principal address on the subject, "Leisure Time for Dads and Lads." A musical program has been arranged.

FOUR BIG JOBS ON LOUP RIVER

Contracts To Be Let Soon For Extensive Concrete Structures.

COLUMBUS, Neb, Nov. 19—(AP)—Bids on four big concrete structures will be opened by directors of the Loup river public power district here Monday, Dec. 10. Two of the structures will be concrete siphons to carry the canal under Beaver creek southwest of Genoa and under Looking Glass creek west of Monroe. The siphon under Beaver creek will be three concrete ducts, each 12 feet, 6 inches wide, 16 feet high and 748 feet long. That under Looking Glass creek will be of similar construction, but 536 feet long.

In each case the top of the siphon will be about 12 feet below the surface of the ground. They will permit the creeks to flow over the canal, without the creek waters, even at flood stage, entering the canal.

The other two pieces of construction will be drop structures, concrete walls built across the canal bed to a height of two feet below the surface of the water, one at the west edge of the reservoir and the other in the tail race near the point where the canal will empty into the Loup river. The drop structures are designed to preserve a constant rate of flow in the canal.

Engineers estimate the four structures will cost $265,000.

Contractors will be asked to bid on two propositions, one calling for completion of the structures by June 1, 1935, and the other for completion by Nov. 1, 1935. The first would require an early start. The second would permit the job to be done next summer. The purpose of calling for bids on basis of different completion dates is to provide as early employment of labor as possible if the cost on basis of winter work is not too high.

Lay Cornerstone For McCook Church

McCOOK, Neb., Nov. 19—(AP)—The cornerstone of the new St. Albans Episcopal church was laid at services here Sunday and it is expected midnight mass can be held in the church Christmas eve. Dr. Hewitt B. Vinnedge was in charge of the cornerstone ceremonies. A prayer book, several church lists, a photograph of the old church and other things were sealed in the stone. Work on the structure is to be rushed.

COMMUNITY CHEST DRIVE FOR OMAHA

OMAHA, Nov. 19 — (AP) — Omaha's community chest drive for $554,800 was launched with an "early bird" breakfast Monday morning and immediately afterwards 3,000 workers started their work. Twenty-eight agencies will share in the drive.

BAND IN CONCERT.
(Special to The Star.)

BEATRICE, Neb., Nov. 19—The Beatrice high school band of sixty pieces made its first appearance Sunday afternoon in new uniforms recently received, in a program given during the vesper services at the junior high school auditorium.

Will Donate Site For Junior College

McCOOK, Neb., Nov. 19—(AP)—J. E. Kelley today offered to add his bit to contributions to give McCook's junior college a new building. He said he would donate a site for the structure. Mrs. Maude McMillen announced last week she would erect a building as a memorial to a son who died last March. Several sites now are under consideration. Kelley is an early attorney of the city and an extensive owner of city property. He is a former mayor and several years ago made the city a gift of 35 acres for park purposes.

HOLD UP MINDEN FILLING STATION

Two Masked Men Rob Attendant and Escape In Automobile.

(Special to The Star.)

MINDEN, Neb., Nov. 19—Two armed, masked men Sunday evening held up and robbed Chris Anderson, attendant at a filling station here, of $23.

Although all officers in the immediate vicinity were instantly notified, the two "stickup" men apparently made good their escape. They were driving a light yellow roadster with a tan top, bearing either an Oklahoma or Kansas license plate on the front end only.

One of the bandits carried a small blue steel gun.

The two gunmen also stole a brown bag, with the name of the First National Bank at Minden on the side, from the filling station attendant.

Both men were described as being between 25 and 30 years old. One was said to be about 6 feet 1 inch tall, of slender build, wearing a black suit and a grey hat. The other was also said to have been wearing a dark suit and a dark hat.

Miner Harris Heads Loup Valley Editors

ORD, Neb., Nov. 19—(AP)—The Loup Valley Editorial association held its annual meeting here Saturday and was entertained by "Hank" Leggett, host editor, and his son, Eugene. Miner Harris of Palmer was elected president: Park Keays, of Broken Bow, vice president, and Mrs. Grace Rood of North Loup, secretary-treasurer. The spring meeting will be held at Loup City.

OPEN HOUSE AT TRIBUNE PLANT

New Home of Hastings Paper May Be Inspected For First Time.

(Special to The Star.)

HASTINGS, Neb, Nov. 19—The new home of the Hastings Daily Tribune will be opened to the public for the first time Monday and Tuesday nights as the newspaper and nine other Hastings industrial and wholesale plants join in an extensive "open house" program.

Thousands of persons are expected to visit the plants the two nights. The project was planned as a substitute for manufacturing shows held regularly here and is being carried out within a few days after final alterations were completed and considerable new equipment was installed at the Tribune's new home.

The Tribune moved into the new quarters on west Third street following a disastrous fire last spring. The fittings of the new home give the Tribune one of the most up-to-date plants among newspapers of its size in the country.

Forest To Fireside There.

Visitors will have opportunity to view all departments of the newspaper and its allied graphic arts services and will be conducted through five rooms which adjoin the editorial offices and in which have been arranged exhibits that portray the development of a newspaper from the first stages in the manufacture of paper to the printing of the pages. Live swamp spruce trees, from which carries out the theme "Forest to Fireside."

The Tribune, founded by the late Adam Breede, has been published as a daily since 1905. A weekly paper was published by Mr. Breede for several years prior to that. Commercial printing, photo-engraving and commercial photography services are maintained in connection with the newspaper.

Publishers of the Tribune are Henry G. Smith, David Breede, Miss Louise Engle and David J. Lewis. Mr. Smith is general manager.

NORFOLK YOUTH IS GUN VICTIM

Accidentally Killed While At Work On Farm Near City.

NORFOLK, Neb., Nov. 19—(AP)—Ralph Wamsley, 16, Norfolk high school student, accidentally killed himself late Saturday by discharging a shotgun. The youth was pulling the gun, muzzle first, from a load of cane while working on a farm near here. The charge struck him in the neck. Authorities said there would be no inquest.

Army Lieutenants In Forced Landing Escape Uninjured

OMAHA, Nov. 19—(AP)—Two army lieutenants escaped uninjured in a forced landing in a muddy cornfield near Nintieth and Pacific streets Sunday afternoon. Lieut. R. L. Welpton and Lieut. Burkey Mann, both connected with the civil conservation corps at Fort Crook, started for Blair, when adverse weather forced them back. When nearing Omaha their motor cut out, causing the forced landing. Lieutenant Welpton was at the controls.

MARRIED AT PAWNEE.

Huskers at Home for 2 Concluding Combats

Bengals Come First, Then Ags of Kansas In Windup Conflicts

BY "CY' SHERMAN.

Heading into the home port from the mud-sloshing brannigan with the Kansas Jayhawkers at Lawrence, where End Virgil Yelkin's accurately toed place-kick manufactured the three points necessary in the compilation of another Nebraska triumph over a traditional, respected foe, Cornhusker football seemingly is happily situated for the launching of the final drive on which hinges Nebraska's retention of its laurels as champion of the Big Six circle.

Three Up, Two to Play.

The two concluding conflicts of Nebraska's conference campaign bring Missouri first and then Kansas State to the Lincoln rectangle to provide the opposition for a Scarlet clan which to date has defied the handicap of inexperience in gridiron warfare and, meantime, has rolled back the three conference foes who have dared dispute Nebraska's supremacy in Big Six competition.

VIRGIL YELKIN

Missouri, on its season's record, scarcely figures as a serious stumbling block, whereas Kansas State, with three conference victories to its credit, stands ominously as a threat in Nebraska's path to a fourth successive title. The preachments of the Huskers' head mentor, Dana Bible, in preparing for the week-end clash with Missouri, undoubtedly will stress the danger which lurks in overconfidence, yet it is inevitable that Bible and his proteges will have that Thanksgiving day affair with the Manhattan Aggies chiefly in mind.

Huskers Deserved to Win.

Nebraska's last home defeat by a conference rival was achieved by the same Aggies four years ago and every Cornhusker resource will be summoned for the task of making certain that the disaster of 1930 shall not be repeated.

While conference critics have been twitting the Cornhuskers on their narrow margins of victory over Oklahoma and Iowa State, the triumph on the sodden Lawrence field was not in any sense a fluke.

The nine to one edge in first downs and the comparison of net yardage gains represented by the cold figures of 202 to 8, scarcely justifies as much as an intimation that the Biblemen were undeserving of their success.

Cardwell On Side Line.

In again conquering Kansas U., the Cornhuskers carried on while minus the services of Halfback Lloyd Cardwell, flashy ball-carrier and premier speedster of the Scarlet squad's offensive. Injured during the first scrimmage of the joust at Lawrence, Cardwell thereafter was a side line spectator except for a few moments of the final half.

No surprise will be tossed into the Nebraska camp if Cardwell toils but little in next Saturday's fray with the Tigers, as it is a matter of importance to have the Huskers' most brilliant ball-lugger in prime physical fettle for the conflict with the up-and-coming Aggies on Thanksgiving Day.

Deserved Larger Score.

In defeating Kansas, 3-0, at Lawrence, the Cornhuskers flashed a brand of football ability and spirit that was deserving of a larger score margin. The Scarlet varsity was blocking better than at any time this season, while the tackling was all that could be desired. A wet field and slippery pigskin balked the Nebraskans at important moments, while Harris, a long range punter, continually pulled Kansas out of the hole.

Although Cardwell was lost on the first play following the kick-off, the Huskers carried on in good style, Bob Benson, Bud Parsons and Glenn Skewes contributing good gains, while Ralph Eldridge fitted into the offensive machine late in the afternoon. Bauer's handling of punts was an important factor in the Nebraska showing.

Husker Forwards Better.

Outweighed by a substantial margin, the Cornhusker forward wall outplayed and outcharged the Kansas line. The Jayhawkers contributed only one first down during the afternoon and this was less than a minute before the intermission, when the Huskers were more concerned about stopping any last-minute long runs or passes by K. U.

BUD PARSONS

In the line, Franklin Meier at center, Jim Heldt and Glenn Justice, guards; Harold Holmbeck and Walt Pflum, tackles; Ray Toman and Bernie Scherer, ends, did yoeman work. Carrell Reese, inserted late in the game, was effective in stopping a mild last-minute threat by the Jayhawks.

Aggies Follow Suit.

While Nebraska was maintaining a clean slate in conference competition Saturday, Kansas State was following suit at Norman, where the Waldorf-coached Aggies were snatching a hair-line victory, 8 to 7, over the Oklahoma Sooners. A ragged pass from center to Cash Gentry, the latter standing back of the goal line intending to punt, spelled disaster to the Oklahoma cause, as Gentry was tackled and downed for a safety, the two points resulting therefrom giving the Aggies the needed edge.

Tigers Easily Satisfied.

Missouri's foray into non-conference circles was less successful than that of the Cyclones, as the Tiger's tail took another twisting. Pitted against the Washington U. Bears of St. Louis, Missouri was overwhelmed, 40-13. The Bears wasted no time in putting on the pressure, as they scored twice in the opening quarter and repeated in the second stanza.

The law estate to which Missouri football has descended this fall may be judged from the fact that Tiger followers were exulting Saturday night over the success of the Carideo team in achieving the two touchdowns.

Two conference combats are on the card for this week-end—Missouri at Nebraska and Iowa State at Kansas State. Championship of the Sooner state will be at stake when Oklahoma U. and Oklahoma A. & M. tangle at Stillwater. An intersectional brawl involving Charlie Bachman's Michigan State outfit and the Kansas Jayhawkers at Lawrence will round out the Big Six program.

COAST INCLINES INVITE ALABAMA

'Crimson Tide' Seems To Have Edge Over Field of Candidates.

PASADENA, Cal., Nov. 19—(AP)—The chances were strong today that the Rose Bowl bid will go to the south this year, with Alabama, a successful previous visitor, favored to make a return bow.

The Crimson Tide and the Big Ten fettered Gophers of Minnesota stood out as the nation's leading unbeaten and untied grid elevens and the chances were long when the Pacific Coast conference's champion — probably Stanford—sends out its call, the 'Bama boys will get it.

Should the faculty of the Western conference suddenly relent and break the Big Ten's post-season game shackles, Minnesota would be neck-and-neck with Alabama in the race for the invitation.

Alabama must beat Vanderbilt to keep its slate clean. Minnesota has Wisconsin to subdue.

East Takes Header.

The east lost cast over the week-end with the first defeats suffered by Syracuse, Navy and Princeton. It still has unbeaten, but tied Temple. Colgate, with a defeat by Ohio State, must be considered. Pittsburgh, a frequent guest here, also had an outside chance.

In the southwest, Louisiana State and Rice, unbeaten, but tied, also held hope.

Tie Game Sunday By Lincoln Amateurs

The Lincoln Tigers and Beilharz Signs finished 6-6 in an amateur football game Sunday. A blocked kick and successful pass gave the Beilharz boys a touchdown to tie the score in the closing minute of play.

Eddie Sauer and Fuller on the line and Kulper in the backfield played good ball for the Tigers. Spear at end was outstanding for the Beilharz outfit. The Tigers play at Grand Island next Sunday.

FALLS CITY IN SPOTLIGHT NOW

Brown Team Rounds Out Nebraska Prep Season Without Defeat.

BY GREGG McBRIDE.

Falls City high is basking in the high school spotlight this week, Coach "Jug" Brown's Richardson county eleven having closed its season in the Nebraska circle by hammering out a 7-0 victory over Beatrice, the only state prep team, to cloud the Falls City record last season. While Beatrice previously had lowered its colors to Crete and Tecumseh, the victory over Beatrice stamped the Brownmen as one of the better teams in the state and worthy of consideration in a state title award.

Failure of Falls City to schedule enough games with stiff opposition leaves fans in doubt as to their real strength. The Richardson county eleven has defeated Table Rock, Auburn, Tecumseh, Nebraska City, Pawnee City and Beatrice. Only Tecumseh and Beatrice gave the Brownies any trouble, these games being won by lone touchdowns.

Leaders Still Rolling Along.

While Falls City was rounding out a successful year, Lincoln and North Platte continued to roll along at an impressive clip. Lincoln took advantage of two fortunate breaks to score a pair of first period touchdowns and beat Grand Island, 13-0. North Platte intercepted two passes and then shot the fleet Floyd Newton across for a brace of tallies to best Sidney, 13-0.

The defeat was the first of the season for Sidney, the Western Nebraska conference champion. The victory found North Platte the only undefeated and untied team iin mid-state or west.

Along with Sidney, four other teams received first defeats in Nebraska competition—Arapahoe Edgar, Litchfield, South Sioux City.

Wilsonville scored in the second quarter to beat Arapahoe 7-0, the first defeat in 18 starts for the Indians Injur yto Mather proved costly tothe Arapahoe cause. Loup City snapped the Litchfield winning streak, 35-0. Sutton upset Edgar's hopes of an all-victorious season, 13-7, and Hartington shattered the South Sioux City record by copping a 14-12 decision.

South Stops Sioux City.

Omaha South turned in the big surprise of the week by upsetting Sioux City Central, 13-7 and turning the trick on the Iowa gridiron. Coach Collin's Packers, however have not enough games scheduled to warrant a title. The result assures Lincoln of no worse than a tie in the Missouri Valley loop.

The South victory again shows the fallacy of comparing scores. Sioux City shellacked Lincoln, 26-14; Lincoln smothered Omaha Tech, 38-0. Then Tech plays South a scoreless tie and the Packers turn around and the next week slap down Sioux City Central 13-7.

Omaha North played good football to beat Benson 12-0. Creighton Prep was in high gear while rolling over Tech, 35-0

Jackson high's great eleven celebrates homecoming day by swamping Ashland, 60-0, scoring three touchdowns during the second period and two each the other three quarters. Bethany gained ground in in the Greater Lincoln league by scoring in the second half to beat Cathedral, 13-6.

College View Ties Tecumseh.

College View came back with a rush to score twice in the last quarter and get a 13-13 tie at Tecumseh Havelock was outclassed at York, Coach Floyd Gautsch's team winning, 20-2.

Kearney high assured itself of a tie with Crete for Mid-State league laurels by romping over Columbus, 27-0. Crete stepped outside the conference and coasted in ahead of Seward, 41-0. Hastings high uncorked a winning pass to beat Aurora, 6-0. The Aurora team, outweighed both in line and backfield, played heads up ball to hold the Tigers to the lone score.

Fremont and Fairbury ran into trouble outside the fold. Albion scored three touchdowns in the last half to beat Fremont 20-0, Papez runinng a kickoff back 85 yards for one of the tallies. Wymore surprised by playing Fairbury even in a 6-6 game.

Nelson stood alone at the top of the Southern conference rate sheet as a result of Sutton's 13-7 victory over Edgar. Nelson maintained its perfect record inside the circuit by wading through Harvard, 27-0. Superior ran wild over Central City, 31-7. Hebron lost by one touchdown to Deshler. Blue Hill upset Davenport, 27-0.

Sidney Smothers Kimball.

Sidney kept its lead in the Western conference by smothering Kimball in an Armistice day game, 42-0. Mitchell beat Bridgeport, 30-0; Alliance came to life with a 20-7 victory over Scottsbluff.

Coach Joe Bayer's Gering Bulldogs won a consecutive North Platte Valley championship by beating Mitchell, 19-15, and winning from Bayard, 20-0. Morrill dropped Lyman, 50-0

In the northwest, Gordon reigns supreme with a 24-13 win over Rushville. Crawford picked up lost ground with a 42-6 win over Chadron.

Holdrege, Lexington and McCook won Southwest league victories. Jeffries blocked a punt in the fourth quarter and ran 35 yards to beat Cozad, 6-0; McCook made the most of one scoring opportunity and marched half the length of the field to win 6-0 from Curtis Aggies. Holdrege spilled Cambridge, 13-0.

Imperial, undefeated, had a close call in its clash with Culbertson. Newman plunged to a touchdown and then place-kicked from the 15-yard line to beat Culbertson in the closing minutes of play, 10-7. Wauneta, also undefeated, turned back Grant, 12-0. Wauneta and Imperial appear destined to share Frenchman Valley honors, having played a tie score several weeks ago.

Oxford Tops Mid-Valley.

Oxford strengthened its claim to Mid-Valley honors by walloping Indianola, 38-0. Holbrook beat Cambridge, 6-0, and Arapahoe scalped Elwood, 21-0. Minden nipped Callaway, 13-12; Orleans bested Red Cloud, 14-0, and Alma made good the extra point to beat Beaver City, 7-6.

Napoee made it six straight by beating Republican City, 13-6, and Bladen blasted Guide Rock's hopes of winning the Webster county title by trimming the Warriors 13-0. Maywood downed Brady, 28-13.

Gothenburg took Loup Valley and Custer county stock for a ride when the Swedes hung a 25-2 defeat on Broken Bow, king-pin of the Custer county region. St. Paul rolled back Scotia, 12-7; Comstock downed North Loup, 18-0; Wolbach, with Peterson going great guns, spilled Genoa, 33-0; Ravenna won a 13-12 thriller from Ansley; Overton beat Shelton 12-6.

Newman Grove won the Corn Belt league crown by getting a 6-6 tie with Tilden; Polk beat Silver Creek, 7-0; Stanton upset Oakland, 12-0; Neligh looked good in a 12-0 victory over Bloomfield; Lyons downed Blair, 6-0.

Bassett Undefeated.

Jerry Johns of Elgin chased a kickoff back 70 yards, but Madison won the ball game 26-19. Walthill kept winning, this time it was Homer on the short end of a 31-6 score. Laurel beat Coleridge, 7-0. Ewing won over Plainview, 38-6, with all the scoring done in the first half. Randolph downed Wayne, 6-0

Coach Rex Gay's Bassett eleven finished the season without defeat by winning, 13-0, from Sargent Crofton swamped Wausa, 54-0; O'Neill defeated Lynch, 13-0; Atkinson stepped on Spencer, 20-0; Pilger scalped Pender, 38-0

Nebraska City moved up in the Southeast league with an Armistice day victory over Auburn, 14-7. Table Rock ran wild to win 54 from Sacred Haert of Falls City. Peru Prep beat Humboldt, 20-0. Keith Harrier intercepted a pass and ran 85 yards to the touchdown which gave Valley the points to get a 6-6 tie with Weeping Water. Cortland swept past Odell, 50-0. Talmadge defeated Elmwood, 6-0.

Omaha South led the Nebraska parade over outside competition last week The Packers' big moment was the win over Sioux City Central Benkelman shellacked Bird City, Kas 45-0 Plattsmouth and Rockport, Mo finished without a score.

John Schmidt, Navy football star, was hurt so often wearing No. 13 jersey he asked for a new number a d got it. It's No. 77—the old mark of Red Grange at Illinois.

'Big Boy' Thompson Saturday Captain

Russell Thompson, 235-pound tackle from Whitney, will captain the Nebraska Cornhuskers in the Homecoming day game with Missouri at Memorial stadium. Thompson is playing his second year with the Huskers, but will finish his varsity competition this year. Prior to enrolling at Nebraska, Thompson played a year at Chadron Teachers college.

RUSSELL THOMPSON

TITLE HINGES ON TURKEY DAY MIX

Huskers and Kaggies Due Battle for Crown On Lincoln Sod.

BY CHARLES GRUMICH.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 19—(AP)—Assured of second place at least, Kansas State begins its home stretch drive for the Big Six football title Saturday against highly respected Iowa State at Manhattan, while Nebraska's defending champions romp with Missouri at Lincoln as the semi-final to the climax game between the tied leaders at Lincoln on Thanksgiving day.

Even though they should lose to Iowa State, the Wildcats of Kansas State could tie Nebraska for the championship by beating the Huskers in the finale.

Nebraska kept its conference record unmarred by defeat last week-end when a reserve end, Virgil Yelkin, broke a scoreless deadlock in the fourth quarter with a place-kicked field goal from the 13-yard line against Kansas. It was the decisive stroke in a muddy game which showed Nebraska superior by nine to one first downs and 245 to 44 yards at scrimmage.

One-Point Margin.

Kansas State's victory over Oklahoma was by a one-point margin, 8-7, resulting from a touchdown made by Quarterback Dick Armstrong and a safety the punting tackle, Cash Gentry, yielded as he was caught by Dean Griffing, center, trying to kick out of his end zone. That offset Oklahoma's touchdown scored on a pass, Raleigh Francis to Jack Harris.

Oklahoma is assured of at least a tie for third place position it won outright a year ago and now turns to non-conference games with Oklahoma A. & M. and George Washington university.

Cyclones Real Threat.

Missouri, defeated Saturday by Washington's Bears from St. Louis 40-13, isn't given a chance against Nebraska, but Iowa State, giving evidence of a late revival in its 33-13 victory over Drake for the mythical championship of the Hawkeye state, is expected to give Kansas State a tussle.

Kansas, which showed a stubborn defense and not much else against Nebraska, has an intersectional date at Lawrence with Charlie Bachman's Michigan State team, which has been beaten only by Syracuse.

Reds Beat Blues In Lincoln Club Shoot

Lincoln Gun club members competed Sunday in their annual Blues vs. Reds team shoot. The Blues, captained by Dr. Olson, nosed ahead of Tom Skinner's Reds by the narrow margin of two targets. Following the team compet, the clay-busters engaged in a turkey shoot. J. F. Sanmann and Jimmie Stuart tied for top honors in the team contest, each breaking 40 of 50 targets. The team scores:

| Reds. | | Blues. | |
|---|---|---|---|
| J. F. Sanmann | 49x50 | Jim Stuart | 49x50 |
| A. Helzer | 48x50 | F. Daily | 48x50 |

BEATRICE DATED OPPOSE LINCOLN

Orangemen Come Friday For Grid Joust With Red and Black.

Having halted two pile-driving fullbacks on successive week-ends in their bid for the state grid title, the Lincoln high huskies turned out Monday to make preparations for Beatrice high's speedsters at the Oval Friday afternoon.

As the Ballermen turned from Little Missouri Valley conference competition, they were faced by Louie De Poyster, Crete plunger who had ripped his way through enemy lines all season. The Cardinal ace was held down while Merlin Mason flipped a pass to Bob Mills for a 6 to 0 victory over the Kleinmen. Saturday at Grand Island it was "Wild Bill" Callahan, 206-pound crusher, who ran afoul of Lincoln's line.

Callahan Islanders' Ace.

Even in defeat, Callahan was Grand Island's powerhouse. He plunged for a substantial portion of the Mandery team's yardage and was present with a stellar defensive display.

Despite injuries that kept Lincoln's usual starting lineup apart last week, only one substitution was made Saturday for any of the injured men. The Red and Black eleven at full strength Friday for Beatrice, probably will make more use of its aerial attack than was permitted in Saturday's rain at Grand Island.

Jackson Takes On Reserves Tuesday

The postponed game between Jackson high and the Lincoln Reserves, originally dated for early October but postponed because of a marshy field, is on the book for Tuesday settlement at Wesleyan field. The initial kickoff is set for 3 o'clock.

A Jackson victory definitely will assure the Crimson of the 1934 Greater Lincoln league title, regardless of the outcome of the Thanksgiving day clash with Havelock Should the Reserves upset the pace-makers, however, both the Red and Black seconds and College View would have a chance to pass the Beechner clan if Havelock could turn the trick Turkey Day.

Most of the Jackson regulars played less than half of the 60-0 runaway with Ashland last week and the entire Crimson squad, with the possible exception of Neal Davis and Don Gunn, will be ready to go.

Probable Lineups.

| Reserves— | Pos. | —Jackson |

Workman Tops Loop In Scoring Points

Mel Workman, Bethany halfback, vaulted into the scoring leadership among Greater Lincoln league high schools with five touchdowns and two extra points, a total of 32, five ahead of Bus Knight and Neal Davis of Jackson. In league games only, however, Davis is the leader with 19 points and Dwight Whittaker of Havelock is in the runner-up spot. Individual leaders:

Speed Ranks First In Bible's Esteem

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 19—(AP.)—Speed is the watchword of Nebraska's football teams.

"Speed and more speed is what we want," says Coach Dana X. Bible.

Here with his traveling squad on a stopover, enroute home from the 3-0 victory over Kansas, Bible watched one of his former midget speedsters, Chris Mathis, play a stellar part in the Kansas City Blues' 33-0 victory over Charlotte in an American pro league game yesterday. Mathis scored a touchdown.

"You can't beat speed in football," Bible said. "If there's anything better, I'd like o know about it."

RESULTS LAST WEEK.

Nebraska College A. C.—Midland college, 7; Doane college, 0.
Nebraska Intercollegiate—Chadron Teachers, 19, Kearney Teachers, 6.
Inter-conference—Peru Teachers, 32; Nebraska Wesleyan, 26.
Non-conference — Hastings college, 26, Augustana, 0. York college, 13; Nebraska Central, 0.

GAMES THIS WEEK.

Nebraska College A. C.—Doane college vs. York college at York.
Nebraska Intercollegiate—Omaha university vs. Chadron Teachers at Chadron; Peru Teachers vs. Wayne Teachers* at Wayne
Non-conference—Nebraska B vs. Kearney Teachers at Kearney.

The time has arrived in the two Nebraska college conferences for a final show-down on the 1934 championships. Accordingly, Chadron Teachers and University of Omaha will meet next Friday at Chadron to decide the Nebraska Intercollegiate circuit title and the following Thursday Nebraska Wesleyan and Hastings college will tangle on the Hastings gridiron in a Thanksgiving day battle, with Nebraska College A. C. honors at stake.

The Chadron-Omaha meeting is the big event in collegiate circles this week. Each team is undefeated in conference competition, Omaha university's record being clouded only by the scoreless tie on a skiddish Wayne gridiron. Chadron stepped on Kearney Teachers, 19-6, last week in the warmup for this week's game with the Cardinals.

Even Rating In Dope.

Chadron and Omaha supporters find in the records plenty to support their claims for recognition as favorite in the Friday game. Omaha smeared Kearney, 38-0, and walloped Peru Teachers, 27-0, whereas Chadron won only 12-0 from the Bobcats and beat Kearney, 19-6. On the other side of the ledger, the Eagles stampeded Wayne, 20-0, while Omaha could get no better than a scoreless tie with the Wildcats.

Chadron, the title defender, will be playing on its home grounds and since the Eagles have a winning habit at home, they certainly deserve no worse than an even rating with the Omahans in the pre-game forecast.

Hastings college last week gave additional evidence of being the cream of the N. C. A. C. crop. Coach Thurlo McCrady's Bronchos drubbed Augustana college, 26 0. The Hastings win is the more impressive in view of Augustana's fine record in South Dakota circles. Wesleyan, meantime, was losing a ding-dong battle to Peru, 26-32.

Midland college clinched third place in the Nebraska College A C. by winning a well-played game from Doane college, 7-0 Coach Karl Lawrence made liberal use of his freshman crop and the brand of football displayed by the yearlings promises well for the 1935 Lutheran gridiron combination. Doane looked good even in losing, indicating that Tiger stock is on the upgrade.

The defeat at Chadron left the Kearney Teachers mired in the cellar position. Peru Teachers will have an opportunity to clinch third place in the N. L. A. A. by winning at Wayne this week.

Outlaw Rasslers Perform Tuesday

Promoters of the Tuesday night wrestling affair at the 4-H arena, with the main event bringing together John Pesek of Ravenna and John Evko of New York, are expecting the largest crowd to witness a tussle on a Lincoln mat since the Pesek-Ray Steele exhibition last March.

Pesek and Evko are two of the leading "outlaws" of the grappling game, neither of whom will do business with the clique which controls the big bugs of the mat. Evko never before has appeared on a Nebraska mat, but has compiled an enviable record on the two seaboards. Some years ago he tugged three hours with Jim Londos, present champion, but neither could drop the other and the match was recorded as a draw.

The semi-windup promises to be a decidedly "modern" affair, with Rowdy Rudy LaDitzi tangling with Chuck Middaugh, the latter a reformed boxer. Jack O'Dell of Pueblo another slam-bang performer, takes on a claimant of the world's Jewish championship, Abe Kaplin, in the 20-minute preliminary.

Jimmy McLarnin returned from Ireland weighing 154 pounds and credits the extra seven pounds to the hospitality he enjoyed while on his visit.

Play It Hard, But Make It Clean.

BY CLYDE E. McBRIDE.

(In Kansas City Star, Last Friday's Issue.)

OUT of Lincoln last Monday, at a time when the Nebraska Cornhuskers, being human, must still have been smarting under the sting of that 25 to 6 defeat at the hands of the Pitt Panthers, came a story written by Cy Sherman, veteran sports commentator of Nebraska. I would call attention to one line of that story as a correspondent whose letter is before me calls attention to it.

"Thanks to Pitt's clean play, Nebraska came through in good shape for the Kansas game."

Nebraska took a hard lacing from a superior foe, but the Nebraska folks had the grace to commend the Panthers for their decent play.

What Mr. Sherman did not say was that Nebraska plays the same kind of football as Pitt played in the Nebraska game. The Cornhuskers play hard, rugged football, but they have none of the petty stuff that disgraces some teams, dragging knees and cleated shoes over the heads of opponents, swinging feet into the bodies of foemen from prostrate positions, petty cuffings along the line of scrimmage.

Here and there such stuff may creep up occasionally, but the Cornhuskers are surprisingly free of it, surprisingly free for such a powerful, rugged team. The Nebraskans play the game and, playing it, let it go at that. I take this as a remarkably fine tribute to the head man of Nebraska football, Dana X. Bible. His teachings must be along the lines of rugged decency.

I saw the Kansas game at Lincoln last year. The Cornhuskers played even cleaner than the Jayhawkers, although I thought that on the whole Kansas played cleanly. I saw the Nebraskans this year against Pitt and, taking their beating, the Cornhuskers were clean-playing sportsmen.

It's that sort of a team many of you folks will be seeing at Lawrence tomorrow, and without doubt the Jayhawkers will meet the Cornhuskers in the same type of play, so that at the finish both the Nebraska and the Kansas correspondents may be able to write as Mr. Sherman wrote after the Pitt game.

Blue Monday Spreads Trail of Sadness In Camps Losing Teams

BY DAVIS J. WALSH.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19—(INS)—This is Blue Monday, the day when football reputations, having been passed through the wringer and mangle, are hung out to be aired; fumigated would be more like it in some cases. The Atlantic seaboard, for instance, finds itself completely washed out this morning, its national prestige a limp and shapeless garment without body and almost without weight.

East Makes Sad Spectacle.

It had three undefeated and untied title contenders on Saturday morning. Today, it has none. All three—the Navy, Syracuse and Princeton—were given the old rough-dry treatment during a week-end that will go down in the books as one of the most violent of them all. There were seven outstanding upsets, headed by Yale's 7 to 0 defeat of Princeton with 11 iron-men and Wisconsin's 7 to 3 victory over Illinois, both far from spurious.

The Illini were the fourth national championship victim of the day, and Santa Clara was added to the first-defeat teams when it lost to St. Mary's yesterday, 7 to 0. While this simplified the situation no end, it nevertheless must be admitted that the survivors—Minnesota, Alabama, Rice, Stanford and a few more—remained remarkably impressive. They won their games by anywhere from 59 to 40 points from major opponents.

Panther Sinks the Navy.

Equally impressive, at that, were those two great one-defeat teams, Pittsburgh and Colgate. Pitt took an undefeated Navy outfit and just swarmed all over it to win by 31 to 7, gaining 25 first downs and 435 yards. Colgate, on the other hand, was outgained by a previously undefeated Syracuse, the first downs being, respectively, 6 to 17, but it is my conviction that the better team won the ball game.

It is also my belief that I saw the two best football teams of my personal schedule this year, Pitt alone excepted. All Colgate did was twice defend its goal-line and twice execute the perfect play. But this was enough; in fact, it was a tremendous plenty. Colgate's pass play for the first touchdown was sheer magic. So was McDonough's run-back of a punt for the second score. On both plays, Colgate men seemingly leaped in couplets and trios out of the ground for the finest interference I have seen through three generations of football.

Buckeyes Slaughter Michigan.

The thousand Swedes who jumped out of the weeds in the famous ditty were well outdone on these occasions. I, therefore, nominate Colgate as one of the really great one-defeat teams of this age and its coach, Andy Kerr, as 1934's best.

Of course, if one does that one also must include Ohio State, the team that beat Colgate, in the nominating ticket. The Buckeyes were never better than in beating Michigan, 34 to 0, on Saturday, thereby paying back with accrued interest and penalties a debt so old that it was practically outlawed.

However, this is getting a little ahead of the no-defeat teams and, in truth, most of them were downright hard to get ahead of the other day.

Gophers Put On Show.

Minnesota put on another great show, this time beating Chicago, 35 to 7, to virtually move in on the Big Ten title. Purdue, which came east to take Fordham, 7 to 0, still has a chance, but the feeling is that nobody is going to stop the Gophers this year. I'd just as soon try to stop the Union Pacific's stream-lined train without my chest protector.

That seems to go for Alabama, too, with its 316 yards and its 40 to 0 defeat of Georgia Tech, not to overlook Stanford's 40 points against the Olympic club. The Cardinal is beginning to generate tremendous power as it goes along and apparently can't miss the Coast conference title. Rice had to be good also to win 25 to 6 from Texas A. & M.

Huey Suddenly Generous.

But Louisiana State might have been better than its 14 to 0 score against Mississippi, although that seems to have been arranged for beforehand. Huey Long, it appears, ordered only two touchdowns because he found that everybody around Mississippi had a nice kind face. Meantime, Western Maryland kept in the general picture by beating Bucknell by 6 to 0.

Wisconsin's defeat of Illinois, greatly simplifying Minnesota's march toward the championship, takes equal rank with the fall of Princeton in the upset stakes. A few more were Southern California's 33 points against Oregon and Cornell's 21 to 6 victory over Dartmouth. Also North Carolina's 7 to 0 score against Duke; Carnegie Tech's 3 to 0 victory over Duquesne and Montana's 7 to 7 tie with Oregon State.

Additional Returns.

Other returns of importance were those: Notre Dame, 20; Northwestern, 7; the Irish coming on to score twice in the final period. Nebraska, 3; Kansas, 0; another last-period victory. California, 45; Idaho, 13. Columbia, 13; Pennsylvania, 12; the latter scoring 12 points in the opening minutes but finally yielding—on a break—to a superior ball team.

Southern Methodist, 10: Arkansas, 6. Kansas State, 8; Oklahoma, 7. Indiana, 17; Maryland, 14. Tennessee, 13; Vanderbilt, 6. Texas, 20; Texas Christian, 19. Tulane, 20; Kentucky, 7. Centenary, 7; Baylor, 0. Colorado Aggies, 14; Utah, 6. Denver, 24; Brigham Young, 6. Colorado, 31; Colorado college, 0.

BOWLING

SPECIAL MATCHES.

Breck's Jewelers and Hastings Ladies won special matches at the Lincoln Parlors Sunday, defeating Lincoln Parlors and Hodgman's two out of three games. Assenmacher of the Lincoln Parlors topped the individuals with a 590 series, while Smith of Breck's had a 233 single game.

Season's First Vesper Concert Well Received

The popular vesper concert series opened its thirteenth season Sunday afternoon with sixty musicians of this year's Lincoln high school orchestra giving one of the notable performances for which the school has received recognition from time to time in the past. Ably conducted by Bernard F. Nevin, and assisted by Hermann T. Decker, baritone soloist, the orchestra found favor with its appreciative audience.

The musicians played with rather more finish than in the first of the season concert last year, and the arrangement of their program—with its emphasis on familar and popular melodies—was pleasing. Their suite from Greg's "Sigurd Jorsalfar" was particularly well received. It was the seventy-ninth in the series of Sunday concerts sponsored by the board of education.

Jean E. Decker accompanied Mr. Decker in his group of appealing folk arrangements. The complete program:

Symphony in B minor (unfinished) Schubert Valse Des Fleurs from "Nutcracker Suite," Tschaikowsky; Harp Cadenza by Miss Ruta Hill orchestr
Down Among the Dead Men The Bailiff's Daughter of Islington, old English. In the Silver Moonlight, French folk All Through the Night Welsh folk, arr by Scott, Had a Horse Hungarian folk arr by Korbay, Hermann T Decker, baritone Jean E Decker, accompanist
To a Wild Rose MacDowell, Suite for orchestra from 'Sigurd Jorsalfar" Grieg; orchestra

Former Director Dedicates Song To Elm Park M. E. Choir

Eight years ago Lisle Hosford left Lincoln and the Elm Park M. E church choir which he had directed for two years. But the city and the church were not forgotten, for Sunday he returned to dedicate a song "Build Thee More Stately Mansions" to the choir of which he had once been director.

Mr. Hosford, now head of the music department at New Mexico Normal university, himself sang the number based on the "Chambered Nautilus" by Oliver Wendell Holmes in its Sunday morning dedication. With his family he is visiting his mother, Mrs. B Ruth Hosford, of University Place.

Rev. Victor West expressed the church's gratitude in a response before his sermon "Streamlined Religion" in which he advocated a "Christianity of rugged individualism" as the best answer to personal religious needs.

The choir was directed again by Mr. Hosford in Mozart's "Gloria in Excelsis." He and Mrs. Hosford also sang "How Long Wilt Thou Forget Me," by Pflueger.

Advancing Industrial Stocks Claim Spotlight While Utilities Show Renewed Heaviness

Closing Tone Is Somewhat Uneven

NEW YORK, Nov. 19—(AP)—

Advancing industrial issues held the attention of today's stock market despite the renewed heaviness of utilities. The firm undertone displayed by selected equities did much to overcome the pessimism caused by the sagging power and light group. The close was somewhat irregular. Transfers approximated 970,000 shares.

Industrial stocks showed further tendencies to break away from the depressed utilities in today's market and selective demand gave the list, as a whole, a moderately firm appearance.

After a brisk first hour, trading activity dwindled and scattered profit taking was in evidence. Sentiment, however, seemed to be quite optimistic despite the gloom which continued to surround the power and light equities. Some of these issues even displayed mild resistance, although their rallying powers were feeble.

Commodities were without any particular trend. Rye got up a cent or so a bushel at Chicago, but the other cereals were only slightly improved. Cotton was a bit firmer, and rubber futures sagged. Bonds were quiet and steady, with U. S. government securities still pointing upward. Sterling was off nearly a cent in terms of the dollar. The gold currencies were a trifle higher.

Shares of American Telephone got back about a point of their previous losses. J. C. Penney was up nearly as much at a new top for the year. Gainers of around a point included May Department Stores, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, Union Pacific, Loew's, Du Pont, Johns-Manville and Radio preferred B. Western Union recovered 2. Fractional improvement was shown by General Motors, Chrysler, U. S. Steel, Case, N. Y. Central and Santa Fe.

New 1934 lows were registered by Consolidated Gas, common and preferred, Public Service of New Jersey, North American and United Gas Improvement, all down fractionally to more than a point. The oils and metals did little.

The advance in Loew's followed publication of the company's earnings statement showing profits for hte year ended Aug 31, more than doubled those of the previous similar period. A 15-cent extra by Du Pont helped that issue. The merchandising group responded to continued expansion of retail sales.

Some support for American Telephone reflected in part the statement of President Walter Gifford regarding the attitude of the corporation toward the recently ordered federal investigation. In addition, the belief was general in the financial district that the regular quarterly dividend would be voted by the directors at their meeting Wednesday.

President Roosevelt's Tennessee valley speeches ufrnished no cheer for holders of power company stocks who, during the past several days, have seen the market value of their securities depreciate substantially. At the same time, some observers expressed the view that, notwithstanding the cloudy outlook for this division, a number of these shares appeared to have been oversold.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19—(AP)—

SUGAR—Early losses of 1 to 2 points in sugar futures under December liquidation and scattered commission house selling were recovered in the later trading today. December contracts rallied from 1.85 to 1.88 and July from 1.91 to 1.92, or unchanged to a point above the previous close with the market at the beginning of the last hour ruling around the best, although the volume of business was only of small proportions, with considerable exchanging from the near to the more distant deliveries.

Futures closed steady, 2 lower to 2 higher, sales, 8,500 tons. Dec. 1.86; Jan. 1.76, March, 1.79B, May, 1.82B, July, 1.87B, Sep., 1.93.

Corn Reaches New Peaks For Season

CHICAGO, Nov. 19—(AP)—

Fresh outdoing of season high price records in the corn market distinguished grain trading today.

Both December and July corn values reached new peaks, and so too did yellow as well as white corn here available for immediate use. Scarcity of domestic feedstuffs has led also to extensive trucking of free grain duty paid into the United States from Canada.

Corn closed strong, ⅝-1⅛c above Saturday's finish, May 85⅝-¾c, wheat ¼c off to ⅜c up, May 99¾-⅞c, oats at ¼c decline to ⅜c advance, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 10 cents.

An all around upturn took place in grain prices early today after an irregular start. Grains in the corn belt, together with belief in acute shortage of corn the remainder of the crop year, had a general bullish effect. Opening unchanged to ⅝c lower, May 99½-⅝c, wheat later llimbed. Corn started ⅜c off to ¼c ip, May 84¾-84⅞c, and subsequently showed material gains.

Corn quickly surpassed the season's high price record for December contracts. The bullish influence of this achievement was added to in the wheat market by assertions that the United States wheat visible supply total would be likely to decrease 60,000,000 bushels further before reaching a minimum for the season. Rye showed relatively more strength than wheat did, with commission houses evincing a pronounced leaning to the purchase side of rye.

Wheat price returns were checked at times by profit-taking sales above $1 for May, and by cables from Argentina saying crops were in excellent condition throughout the northern section of Buenos Aires province.

Corn market strength was sustained by Illinois advices that the harvesting of corn was near completion. Oats were responsive to corn market action.

Provisions held about steady, reflecting the course of hog prices.

About mid-session, wheat was unchanged to ⅜c higher compared with Saturday's finish, and corn was ½-⅝c up.

Corn receipts in Chicago today were 109 cars, aganist a holiday last week and 537 a year ago.

Grain Notes

CHICAGO, Nov. 19—An absence of speculative interest because of fear of possible grain imports and the strong cash position of the market were technical influences on which the price range was based last week. Corn went into the leadership when sentiment in the wheat market turned bearish on further slumps in the price of foreign grains. December corn prices registered sharp gains because of the small movement of the new crop to market. Better prices for the grain were being paid in the country than the market quotations.

In contrast to the position of corn, hedgers short in the December wheat were disturbed by high premiums and a small movement of cars but prices remained firm despite the lower trend in foreign markets. The July contract was stronger on reports of a shortage of moisture in the southwest, but broke sharply when rain fell and moisture was forecast. Fear of possible imports and a smaller eastern demand because of competition by Pacific coast wheat were depressing influences on May wheat.

Consistent holding by longs has put December corn into a tight position. Hedgers did not hesitate to wait until near the delivery month even though a small crop movement was indicated. Traders believed that the new corn receipts could be mixed with the old into deliverable grades, thereby cutting down the premium.

NEW YORK CURB REVIEW.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19—(AP)—

A fairly steady tone prevailed in most sections of the curb market today. Merchandising shares, oils, industrials and specialties made small gains, the metals were mixed and utilities were again definitely lower. Trading was slow.

Lerner Stores and Sherwin Williams, each with a gain of around 1½ points led the merchandising shares, in what brokers reported to be a mild revival of speculative interest in this group. In the metals, Bunker Hill & Sullivan and Wright Hargreaves improved fractionally.

Utilities followed the same general trend to lower levels that has marked this group since the middle of last week when a series of developments considered unfavorable to the industry made their appearance in the news.

NEW YORK BOND REVIEW.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19—(AP)—

Trading interest was at a low level during the first half hour of todays' session. Prices were steady in practically all groups.

Secondary rail and utility loans, many of which were under pressure last week, rallied in a small way as selling subsided. Prime corporate issues were firm. U. S. governments continued their slow upward movement.

Buyers of treasury issues paid from 2-32nds to 7-32nds of a point above Saturday's finals for several of this group. The 3s of 1951 sold at 100.13; 3⅛s at 103.16; 3¼s of 44-46 at 101.29 and 4s of 1954 107.24.

A fairly large amount of trading occurred in American Telephone & Telegraph 5s from 109⅞ to 110, the latter price being unchanged from Saturday. There were small gains in American Smelting 5s at 107, St. Paul 5s at 22¾; International Telephone 5s at 58¼ and New York Central 5s at 62¾.

The foreign list showed uneven price changes. Brazilian, Colombian and Italian obligations were up fractions to around a point.

TREASURY RECEIPTS.

Chicago Produce.

CHICAGO, Nov. 19—(AP)—

Butter and eggs were weak in tone today. Poultry was steady.

The statistical position of the butter market is favorable. Storage movement in principal cities during the month to date have been heavy and holdings somewhat lighter compared with last year. However, some dealers point to the changed government distribution. Last year the government accumulated millions of pounds of butter before distributing to the poor while this year government purchases have been for immediate releas.

Harry I. Heiman of Marks Laser and Co., said as withdrawals consist mainly of federal relief butter operators "we are viewing the immediate future with concern, realizing that prevailing price levels can only be supported if further government orders are forthcoming."

Dividends

NEW YORK, Nov. 19—(AP)—Directors of Lerner Stores corporation today declared a dividend of $1 62½ cents a share on the 6½ per cent preferred stock on account of accumulations payable December 3 to stock of record November 23.

Kennecott Copper Co. declared a dividend of 15 cents on the capital stock payable December 21 to stock of record December 10. Similar payments were ordered in the two previous quarters.

WILMINGTON, Del., Nov. 19—(AP)—E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. today declared an extra dividend of 15 cents and a regular quarterly dividend of 65 cents on its common stock. The regular quarterly dividend of $1.50 on the debenture stock was declared. This makes a total of $2.10 du Pont has declared on the common stock during the present year.

Wall Street Briefs

NEW YORK, Nov. 19—Preliminary estimates indicate that Denver & Rio Grande railroad's October gross revenues exceeded those of October, 1933, by about 10 per cent. October net income is said to have run below 1933, although official sources believe the road covered its fixed charges during the month.

California crude oil output during the week ended November 17 averaged 494,750 barrels daily against 490,550 in the previous week.

Administration of Relief Is Figured At 11.6 Per Cent

FERA Says Anything Below 14 Per Cent Is Considered Good.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19—(AP)—The relief administration, accused of "shameful waste" by Senator Borah, republican, Idaho, figured today that 11.6 per cent of relief expenditures during August went to pay administrative costs.

Officials said this compared with administrative expenses amounting to 11.3 per cent of total relief outlays for July and 10.8 per cent for May and June.

They asserted the increase in recent months was largely the result of well digging and other drouth relief activities which for one reason or another had been charged to administration.

Spokesmen at FERA headquarters said anything below 14 per cent was considered "good administration."

The relief administration, distributing federal funds among state relief administrations at the rate of about $135,000,000 a month, figures the cost of administering relief in the single state of Idaho—Borah's state—during September and October at 8.98 per cent.

Harry L. Hopkins, the relief administrator, said last week that Borah had failed so far to furnish proof of any specific cases of waste.

Denver Society Matron Victim Of Axe Murder

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 19—(AP)—A 58-year old Armenian immigrant expressed satisfaction at being in jail today for the axe-slaying of Mrs. Lillian Sarkisian, 51, Denver society woman.

The prisoner, Abraham L. Kloian, was arrested Saturday night, a few hours after he allegedly hacked and stabbed Mrs. Sarkisian to death in her home and then attacked and wounded her husband, Dr. Toros Sarkisian, physician and art patron.

The Sarkisians, recognized authorities on Oriental art, operated a rug shop as a hobby. They had employed Kloian, as an odd jobs man.

"Those people were my worst tormenters," the prisoner said. "I'm glad I'm here. I'd rather be in jail than working like I did. No matter what happens now I'm happy."

FORMER MAYOR OF TILDEN SUCCUMBS

NORFOLK, Neb., Nov. 19—(AP)—Pat Stanton, 76, former mayor of Tilden and widely known throughout northeast Nebraska, died Sunday night in an Omaha hospital, from pneumonia and other complications which necessitated the amputation of one of his legs Saturday.

For many years he was a leader in the democratic party in Madison county and was a prominent Catholic.

He is survived by two sons, Pat, jr., and Steve, both of Tilden, and four daughters, Mrs. Frank McGhan, Lincoln, Miss Tillie and Miss May, both of Tilden, and Mrs. Kate Kielty, living near Tilden.

DISCUSS PLANS FOR POWER DISTRICTS

OMAHA, Nov. 19—(AP)—Officials at state PWA headquarters here said today that future construction plans of the Platte valley public power and irrigation district and the Loup valley public power and irrigation district at Columbus are being discussed in Washington this week. John Latenser, state PWA engineer, is in Washington attending the discussions. He is not expected back here until late this week.

THREE ILLINOIS HUNTERS DROWN

DALLAS CITY, Ill., Nov. 19—(AP)—Three Illinois men were drowned in the Mississippi river last night when the boat in which they had been duck hunting capsized seven miles north of here.

The victims were Al Berg, 40, and Earl Beardsley, 56, of Stronghurst and Guy Brown, Kewanee, Ill.

WHOLESALE COMMODITY PRICES GAIN SHARPLY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19—(INS)—Wholesale commodity prices were decidedly higher during the latest week, according to the index of the National Fertilizer association. For the week ending November 7, the index advanced 7 points, moving up from 75.1 to 75.8, as compared to 74.8 a month ago, 69.4 a year ago, and 55.8, the record low point reached in March, 1933.

CINCINNATI—Henry C. Lerch, 64, widely known as a singer, musician and authority on church music.

HAYS, Kas.—Dr. Elam Bartholomew, 82, curator of the mycological museum at Fort Hays State college.

Sales

CHICAGO, Nov. 19—(AP)—The Jewel Tea Co. reported sales for the four weeks ended November 3 totaled $1,391,126.61 compared with $1,206,910.53 for the same period in 1933, an increase of 15 per cent. Sales for the first 44 weeks of the year were $14,269,878.93 compared with $11,949,-921.87 for corresponding weeks in 1933, a 20 per cent increase. The average number of company units in operation was 1,114 in 1934 and 1,434 in 1933.

LARGE GERMAN ARMY VISIONED

Frenchman Says 'Enemies Are Intensely Preparing for War.'

PARIS, Nov. 19—(AP)—The declaration that Germany would put an army of 5,500,000 men into the field in 1935 was made today by Leon Archimbaud, reporter of the budget, in a report on the French war budget asking credits of 5,689,215,000 francs ($376,200,-000) for next year.

"In a few months," said the budget reporter, "Germany will be stronger on land than in 1914.

"We are far from the treaty of Versailles. Despite the treaty, the League of Nations, and the disarmament conference, the enemies of France are intensively preparing for war as though it were to be in the near future. It is by maintaining a strong and well equipped army that we can hope peace will not be threatened."

Archimbaud asserted that information furnished by Marshal Petain and other sources show that Germany in 1934 had a total armed force of 480,000 men.

I naddition, he estimated that Germany has between 3,500 and 4,000 trained pilots with a large number of airplanes.

Cochran Continues Mum On Appointees

Governor-elect R. L. Cochran Monday continued his complete silence as to his plans for his administration beginning next January but announced he probably will open an office here late this week where he can work on the manifold questions coming before him.

He was at work Monday again in democratic state headquarters but had nothing to say concerning the multitude of rumors as to possible appointments of plans for legalizing liquor, one of the chief questions confronting his administration.

Cochran said he has made no statement since the campaign of any kind concerning the liquor problem and still is not ready to comment on it.

"Doc" George Mullen of Omaha, a relative of Arthur F. Mullen, is reported to be a candidate for state insurance commissioner under the new state administration.

South Omaha Bridge Company Wins Suit

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., Nov. 19—(AP)—District Judge H. J. Mantz today granted the motion of the city of Omaha and the South Omaha bridge commission for dismissal of the suit of the city of Council Bluffs to enjoin construction of a road grade along the south boundary of the Council Bluffs airport as a part of the South Omaha bridge project. City Solicitor Perkins of Council Bluffs, said that a decision has not been reached as to an appeal to the Supreme court.

Auto Dealers Plan Expand Organization

OMAHA, Nov. 15— (AP) —A membership drive for the Nebraska Auto Dealers' association was discussed at a meeting of the Omaha Auto Trades association Monday and plans were laid for meetings in each of the nine districts of the state organization.

Dick Low, state commissioner, and Grant McFayden, state administrator of the auto retailing code, in company with E. M. Lied, director of the National Auto Dealers association, and Ned Bailey, secretary of the Nebraska Auto Dealers association, were to leave here Monday for Scottsbluff to conduct a meeting Tuesday.

They will hold a meeting at North Platte on Wednesday, at McCook on Thursday and at Hastings on Friday.

Independent Tipton Out On Official Vote

Gives Democrats Exactly Two-Thirds Majority In Each Branch.

Exactly two-thirds democratic majority in each branch of the 1935 legislature is assured by the result of an upset in the 100th house district, comprising Box Butte and Sioux counties, where completion of the official count shows the defeat of A. A. Tipton, Alliance, who was supposed to have won as a petition candidate, and the election of William Newman, Alliance, democrat, in his place.

This gives the majority party 67 votes in the lower chamber—just enough to pass bills carrying the emergency clause—where one had been lacking for that purpose. The republicans will have 33 seats, while the lone independent solon is eliminated.

The state senate will contain 22 democrats and 11 republicans, unchanged from the results shown by unofficial figures.

In the 100th house district Newman is credited on complete returns with 2,793 votes, while Tipton's total is 2,728—a plurality of 55 for the democratic candidate.

Begin Survey Retail Food Prices Tuesday

Beginning Tuesday morning a detailed survey of retail food prices will be made in Lancaster county as part of the nationwide survey being conducted by the national emergency council. The purpose of the survey is to get a "very definite and fixed checkup of food prices in retail stores," according to Mrs. William Fleming, chairman of the Lancaster County Consumers council, conducting the survey.

"The government wants to watch the fluctuation of prices during the winter and spring months because of the supposed effect the drouth has caused," Mrs. Fleming said. Co-operation of 15 stores over the county has been given and five field workers from FERA lists will be used with one of them compiling data so gained at the survey office in the federal building. The work will be done under the direct supervision of Prof. C. E. McNeill of the University of Nebraska economics department.

OFF THE RECORD By Ed Reed

"I told my friends I was spending the winter in Florida."

LEE MANTLE DEAD.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 19—(AP)—The body of Lee Mantle, 83, one of the last of the picturesque group of frontier capitalists who made history in the days of the northwest's booming development, will be taken back to Butte, Mont., Wednesday for burial. Mantle former United States senator, died at his home here yesterday from a heart attack.

Fleming Urges All Drivers Co-operate To Reduce Accidents

With 4,200 street intersections in Lincoln, it will be necessary for the more than 23,000 automobile owners in the city to co-operate fully with the police if the accident and death toll is to be kept at a minimum, Mayor Fleming declared Monday. "In no other way will it be possible to reduce the gradually mounting number of accidents," he declared.

Although the mayor hopes motorists will give particular attention to observing the regulations with reference to school stops and speeding, he is urging that all the traffic regulations be observed. "Violators need not call me and plead for clemency," he added, "as it will do them no good, especially if they run by school signs. Control of traffic has become altogether too important to relax regulations in any way. When the regulations are violated all I can do is let the law take its course."

While the mayor was announcing his stand on enforcement of the traffic laws, he was asked in a telephone call to intercede for a person who had run through a school sign. The excuse was, the mayor said, that the driver "did not see it." "The school signs are plenty large enough for anyone to see," the mayor said. "If a man cannot see them, he has no business driving an automobile."

Dentists, Doctors Poor Collectors, Credit Men Told

OMAHA, Nov. 19—(AP)—If credit managers of retail concerns made the same showing in collecting accounts as many dentists and doctors, their jobs wouldn't last long, Dr. O. A. Runyan, Omaha dentist, told the convention of the Associated Credit Bureaus of Nebraska, Inc., here Monday.

"We contacted 102 Omaha dental offices in a survey October 25 and found 26 per cent of their accounts over 90 days old," he said. "Fourteen medical offices were surveyed and 50 per cent of their accounts were reported delinquent."

Discussing bankruptcies, A. E. Royce, Omaha lawyer, said, in his opinion, the ideal bankruptcy act would provide for speedy and economical distribution of the bankrupt's assets; release of the bankrupt from all his debts, if the release is justified; penalties to the bankrupt in case of fraud, reckless conduct of business or personal extravagance.

C. R. Minick of Beatrice, president of the association, opened the convention. Other talks were given by Mayor Towl, G. B. Porter of North Platte and Harry P. Hovey, attorney for the Kansas City retail association.

Expects Increase In Transient Population

OMAHA, Nov. 19—(AP)—John McPherson, state transient director, predicted today that Nebraska's transient population will increase 15 per cent this month over last and December will be about 25 per cent higher than October. The Omaha center now houses 1,150 transients, while 145 youths are in camp at Plattsmouth. McPehrson also stated that William B. Foy who came here as a transient last winter, and became recreation director, has been appointed to a similar job at the largest transient camp in the nation at Fort Eustis, Va.

Thief Leaves Old Shoes for New and Takes $50 Jewelry

It was apparently a foot-weary thief who visited the C. A. Hatcher farm near Cheney Saturday afternoon while the family was in Lincoln. Taking the best pair of shoes which he could find in the closet he left his old ones behind.

"The shoes the thief left were the sorriest specimens of footgear I have seen in many a day," said Deputy Sheriff Charles Hughart. "There was no sole left at all on one of them." Had it been only shoes that were taken the Hatchers might not have minded so much. But the robber also took articles of jewelry valued at $50.

LINOLN MIDGETS WYMORE WINNERS

Bert Faulkner's Lincoln Midget football aggregation handed Wymore's Midget team an 18-0 lacing here Sunday afternoon at Wymore, with a crowd of 500 in attendance. Both teams were composed of players weighing less than 100 pounds. Auger led the Lincoln attack, racing 50 yards for one of the touchdowns and plunging for a second, while Egan crashed through for the third. Captain Wilson looked good in the line.

Faulkner's team plays the Father Flanagan home team of Omaha in a preliminary to the Nebraska-Missouri homecoming game at Memorial stadium Saturday afternoon. The Omaha eleven defeated the Lincoln team at Omaha recently the only reverse of the season for the Faulkner eleven.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS—By JOHN HIX

For further proof address the author, inclosing a stamped envelope for reply. Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

Moliere, great French dramatist of the seventeenth century, spent the last days of his life writing a play and acting in it—a play which was the story of a man who thought he was sick. The author was sick in fact, though the character he portrayed was sick in imagination only, and Moliere in his last appearance in this role was seized with a convulsion, but his audience never knew it—he covered his struggles with a forced laugh.

The play called "The Imaginary Invalid," was produced first on Feb. 10, 1673, in the Palais Royal and repeated three more times. On Feb. 17, the day of Moliere's last appearance, he was feeling ill but refused to stay away from the theater.

That night, while on the stage, he suffered a fatal attack of illness. Although he played his part to the end he had to be carried from the theater, and before morning he was dead. Because he was an actor he was not given a regular church burial, and today no one knows where his body lies.

Before the advent of modern printing, books were rare and expensive luxuries closely associated with learned men. This fact gave rise to the curious belief in some places that knowledge could be acquired by eating books. In ancient Tartary some illiterates, seeing no value in the written page, actually ate paper and all — hopes of becoming learned.

Miss Ann Barney To Wed Dr. Clarence Elliott, Nov. 28

Marriage Will Take Place At Friend; Patriarchs To Meet For Dinner November 27; Christopher Morley Plays Prank On Omaha Friend.

NOT just deluged with news today, but did stumble on to a wedding or so that will be of interest—One of them, of course, doesn't take place until February, and we will tell you this much—it has to do with a Kappa who has been out of school for a little while, and a Sigma Chi, ditto—How good are you at figuring?

The second wedding we have in mind will bring a most attractive bride to Lincoln—Miss Ann Barney of Friend, whose marriage to Dr. Clarence Elliott of Lincoln will take place November 28, 4 o'clock in the afternoon at the Congregational church in Friend.

Miss Barney is a graduate of the University of Nebraska, and after graduation went to Chicago for dietary work.

Dr. Elliott is a graduate of the Rush Medical college, which is connected with the University of Chicago, and is a member of Phi Rho Sigma fraternity. He is now associated with Dr. John C. Thompson.

SO MUCH FOR romance in November—How about the cute little trick that Christopher Morley played on an Omaha acquaintance while he was in Lincoln—It seems that Miss Claire Helen Woodward came down from Omaha to renew a friendship with the noted author, and afterward attended a supper party at the Joe Seacrests. By way of an autograph for Miss Woodward, Mr. Morley seized a big red apple, drew a funny face on its rosy cheek, and after writing both her name and his own upon it, presented it to Miss Woodward, who now is wondering what to do with it. Someone suggested that she decorate it with a wreath of cloves, bury it in sugar and put it in the oven.

SEE THAT THE Patriarchs will be meeting for dinner Tuesday evening, November 27, at the Lincoln Country club. A program is being arranged, but the plans are not definite as yet.

* * *

HEAR THAT Dr. and Mrs. John C. Thompson are to preside at a dinner Saturday evening at the Lincoln Country club's great "home-coming" dinner dance.

MR. AND MRS. DONATO GIVE SUNDAY MUSICALE.

Delta Omicron, presented Anthony Donato, violinist, and Carolyn Donato, pianist, in a twilight musical Sunday afternoon, at the home of Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Smith. Receiving the guests at the door were Mrs. Smith and Miss Ruth Johnson, president of the active chapter, and Mrs. Theodore Diers, president of the alumnae chapter, introduced the artists. A color motif of lavendar and cream was used on the candle-lighted tea table, where Mrs. Diers and Mrs. H. J. Lehnhoff, presided. Members of the active chapter including, Miss Johnson, Miss Winifred Raspede, Miss Carolyn Lehnhoff, Miss Vera Mae Peterson, Miss Jean Palmer, Miss Ruth Mary Jennings and Miss Maxine Peterson, assisted. The committee in charge of the program was composed of Miss Katheryn Dean, chairman, Miss Valorita Callen and Miss Dorothy Holcomb, while the committee for the tea included, Mrs. Phil Sidles, chairman, Mrs. Charles Matson and Mrs. Joe Elwell.

UNI. PLACE P. T. A. MEETING IS TUESDAY.

The University Place P. T. A. meets in the music room of Jackson high school Tuesday at 3:30 o'clock. Mrs. A. W. Medlar is the chairman of the program on the subject "The Relation of Home Training to School Life." The following numbers are included: discussion, "What Kind of Home Training of the Child Does the Teacher Appreciate?" Mrs. Mason Yerkes; and "What Kind of Teaching Can Supplement the Child's Home Training," Mrs. R. E. Holland, with general discussion following both topics, and vocal numbers, Mrs. Gordon Phillips.

BUSINESS GIRLS HOLD EIGHTH ANNUAL BANQUET.

Herbert Dahlberg, 2031 F street, underwent an operation for appendicitis, Saturday evening, at St. Elizabeth's hospital. Mr. Dahlberg's condition is reported as favorable.

A daughter, Mary Lou, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Joyce Markham, 618 South Thirty-first street, Sunday, at the Lincoln General hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brittell, 932 North Thirtieth street, are the parents of a daughter, born Monday morning, at St. Elizabeth's hospital.

A daughter, Nancy Dee, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Clements, 2501 North Sixteenth street, Omaha, Monday morning at the Lincoln General hospital.

Eyen Seeking Padlock Decree Modification

A hearing on the application of Abe Eyen, former tavern operator, for a modification of the injunction which ordered his place of business "padlocked" on October 29, probably will be held sometime this week, District Judge E. B. Chappell said Monday.

The application was filed Saturday by John J. Ledwith, attorney for Eyen, who asks that permission be given to re-open the place so that meals and light lunches may be served there. Ledwith doubts that the court was within its jurisdiction in closing the tavern on the grounds that it was a nuisance. The suit asking that Eyen be enjoined from operating was brought by County Attorney Max Towle.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED AT MINISTERIAL MEETING

A number of resolutions relating to civic matters were adopted at the executive session of the Lincoln Ministerial association at the Y. W. C. A. Monday morning. Rev. Ray E. Hunt, chairman of the civic relations committee, announced that the resolution contents would be made public Tuesday, after they are properly prepared. Rev. Walter Aitken and Rev. H. H. Marsden are other members of the committee.

Catholics to Honor Cardinal Mundelein

CHICAGO, Nov. 19—(AP)—Patrick Cardinal Hayes, archbishop of New York, headed a long list of Catholic dignitaries who came to Chicago today to attend the celebration of George Cardinal Mundelein's silver jubilee.

More than 100 ranking prelates from all sections of America will kneel in the Holy Name Cathedral tomorrow, when Cardinal Mundelein offers a solemn pontifical mass of thanksgiving in observation of the 25th anniversary of his assumption of the office of bishop.

The Most Rev. Amelto Giovanni Cicognani, apostolic delegate to the United States, also arrived this morning to participate in the services.

NICE PREDICTS G. O. P. COMEBACK

SAVANNAH, Ga., Nov. 19—(AP)—Harry W. Nice, recently elected governor of Maryland over the democratic incumbent, Albert C. Ritchie, says the republican party is "no more dead now than the democratic party was after that terrible licking in 1928."

Enroute to Jacksonville by steamer, the governor-elect was here a few hours last night.

"I predict that the republican party will stage just as great a comeback as the democratic party," Nice said. "I honestly believe that it is entirely possible that President Roosevelt will be defeated in 1936."

RARE MUSCULAR DISEASE IS FATAL TO K. C. GIRL

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 19—(AP)—A rare muscular disease diagnosed as myasthenia gravis caused the death here yesterday of Miss Mary Agnes Thorning, 22.

During a 5-year fight to save her life, her case had engaged the attention of nationally-known physicians. No cure or cause has been found for the disease, which paralyzed Miss Thorning's throat, eye and mouth muscles.

Miss Thornin carried on a correspondence during her illness with Dr. Harriet Edgewood, Chicago woman physician who is suffering with the same disease. Dr. Edgewood recommended a drug which alleviated the girl's condition for a time.

ROOSEVELT AIMS AT CHEAP POWER RATES FOR U. S.

Development of Public Projects in 'Yardstick' Policy Planned.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19—(AP)—Though "peace pacts" between government and business are becoming the vogue, the Roosevelt administration still shook its big "yardstick" at giant power today.

An official source disclosed that spokesmen for electric utilities have been coming—like bankers and other leading business men—to swap viewpoints with the administration. Whether these discussions, described as touching on general power policies, got to the point of suggesting another treaty of co-operation was not disclosed.

It was regarded as significant that President Roosevelt continues to hammer away at his announced purpose of forcing down rates he considers too high by developing public power projects to serve as a "yardstick."

Visiting Tupelo, Miss., the first community to buy power from the Tennessee Valley Authority, the president quoted figures yesterday to show that rates had been cut and that consumption of power had jumped 126 per cent. His statement that "what you are doing here is going to be copied in every state of the union before we are through," was an indication to many observers that he plans no halt in his "yardstick" policy.

Vigorous Foes.

The TVA has its vigorous foes. It has been criticized recently by coal operators, who call it an encroachment on business fields and insist that coal can produce electricity cheaper than water power.

Meanwhile, the National Association of Manufacturers, pursuing the line of co-operation toward recovery recently emphasized in meeting here, issued a summons for a "congress of American industry" in New York December 5 and 6.

The chamber of commerce of the United States and the American Federation of Labor are still far from seeing eye-to-eye on the way to induce recovery. The chamber denounced the A. F. of L. plan for a statutory 30-hour week.

The A. F. of L. in a report yesterday saw business in a better position "to go ahead" than last year.

"Bank deposits have increased at an unprecedented rate," it said, "and are now 29.7 per cent above March, 1933; business men could finance a major production increase by drawing on their accounts, with very little recourse to loans—an unusually strong position."

BURLINGTON MUST PAY BACK CHARGES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9—(AP)—The interstate commerce commission today ordered the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad and others to pay Armour and Co., which has its principal offices in Chicago, $54,098 reparations on account of unreasonable rates charged on the transportation of numerous carloads of hogs from points in Nebraska, Iowa, North Dakota and South Dakota to Spokane, Wash.

JURY IMPANELLED TO HEAR WAR RISK CASE.

A federal court jury was impanelled Monday morning to hear the war risk insurance suit brought against the government by Mark S. Martin, Lincoln veteran, who seeks to recover $57.50 a month from September 13, 1918. F. H. Wagener represents the government and H. W. Baird, the plaintiff. Martin alleges that he served in the 355th Infantry overseas and that in the St. Mihiel drive on September 13, 1918, a direct high explosive shell hit on his right arm caused its amputation. He alleges that he is totally and permanently disabled. He formerly lived at Juniata, Neb.

Woman's Club Observes Fortieth Anniversary At Luncheon Monday

Celebrating the fortieth anniversary of its founding, the Lincoln Woman's club entertained at a 1 o'clock luncheon, Monday noon, at the Lincoln hotel. The charter members including, Mrs. L. P. Hartley, Mrs. Guy Brown, Mrs. T. Castor, Mrs. W. D. FitzGerald, Mrs. T. E. Calvert, Mrs. A. W. Jansen, Miss Annie Miller, Mrs. Nellie Pickup, Mrs. Fern Upson, Miss Johanna Van Boskirk, Mrs. H. C. Van Boskirk, Mrs. H. J. Winnett, Mrs. C. I. Jones, Mrs. W. A. Selleck, and Mrs. Sam Wessel were seated at the speakers' table.

Past-presidents, Mrs. E. L. Marty, Mrs. George Schwake, Mrs. T. J. Doyle, Mrs. George Chatburn, Mrs. Fred Bricka, Mrs. E. W. Rowe and Miss Helen Tuttle, and the elected officers were at small tables adjoining. The rest of the group was seated at tables for eight.

The program and decorations were in keeping with the theme for the year, which is "The Pioneer." The speakers' table was centered with a candelabrum, holding delph blue candles, while covered wagons, surrounded with autumn leaves and bitter-sweet, were placed on the other tables. The hand colored programs and place cards, designed by Mrs. John Jorgensen, also featured a covered wagon.

Mrs. John Bennett, president, acted as toastmistress, and the following responses were given: "The Plodding Oxen," Mrs. Nellie Magee; "As the Wheel Turns," Mrs. E. L. Marty; "Under the Sheltering Canvas," Mrs. A. E. Sheldon; "The Sturdy Pioneer," Mrs. F. C. Radke. During the luncheon, Lois Rathburn entertained with an Indian dance, Scovie Seidel, accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. Charles Huyck, played several violin numbers in the fashion of old-time fiddling, and Miss Jean Thompson sang a group of songs. Mrs. J. H. Broady, chairman of the social committee, was general chairman, in charge of arrangements.

People's Forum

a protestant minister in his own interpretation of Holy Scripture.

Why pan Mr. Cadman and not mention Calvin, who taught predestination or Luther who condemned it, and Mrs. Eddy Baker who preached pantheism or John Wesley who rejected it, or Roger Williams who preached Baptism and George Fox who condemned it, or Mrs. E. G. White for advocating utter annihilation of the wicked on Judgment Day, or William Miller who rejected it, or Alexander Dowie who preached the Blessed Trinity and John Biddle who rejected it, or John Smith who preached polygamy and Emmanuel Swedenber who condemned it, or John Knox who taught the doctrine of Hell, and James Relly who rejected it, not to mention Mrs. Ann Lee and Philip Otterbein.

Each of the above named persons was free to exercise their right as Protestants and claimed a special illumination in their interpretation of the Holy Bible. Does not also Mr. '1934 Curiosity" claim equal rights? Then it would seem that the Rev. S. Parekes Cadman is right in his own special illuminations.

Open House, Reception Baptist Student House

About 125 friends of the Baptist student house gathered there Sunday afternoon for the annual open house and reception. Miss Grace Spacht, student secretary, directed the social hours.

In the receiving line were Mrs. Fred Fred Williams, H. J. Theobald, Rev. and Mrs. JJames Macpherson, Miss Claire Rhodes, Glover Ross, Miss Florence Guthrie, William Jacobs and Miss Spacht. Mrs. Karl Stuermer and Mrs. Roscoe Abbott poured the first hour, and Mrs. A. R. Congdon and Mrs. Roy Cochran officiated during the second hour.

Raymond Forshay and Evelyn Whitnah presented vocal solors, and Dorothy Thompson and Doris Pantier, a vocal duet. Piano solos were given by Robert Burdick and William Gant.

Biddle Sworn In

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19—(AP)—Francis Biddle, Philadelphia attorney, was sworn in today as new chairman of the labor relations board.

Before he took the oath, Biddle had a long talk with Secretary Perkins. He also had conferences with Edwin Smith and Harry Millis, other members of the board, but did not sit with the board at today's hearing.

SIMPLE TO MAKE AND VERY EASY TO WEAR.

PATTERN 2071.

By ANNE ADAMS.

You'll like the youthful shirtwaist lines of this smartly tailored house frock—and you'll like the way you can slip into it as quickly as one, two, three! What a joy for the woman who hates to jump out of her nice warm bed on these cold winter mornings and start struggling with hooks and eyes! For the dress opens the full length of its front and is easily adjusted to the figure by means of a tie-belt, part of which slips through a slit at one side and is drawn about the waist to tie into a gay little bow with the other half of the belt. And if you prefer a round neckline the dress can be made without the collar, as in the smaller illustration.

Pattern 201 is available in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44. Size 16 takes 3¾ yards 36 inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE.

Order your WINTER PATTERN BOOK. Order it NOW! The new ANNE ADAMS models are stunning, and SO easy to make! Designs for all ages and all occasions. PRICE OF BOOK, FIFTEEN CENTS. BOOK AND PATTERN TOGETHER, TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

Address Lincoln Star Pattern Department, 243 West 17th street, New York City.

Watson's Nervy With Reel And Gun But He Can't 'Ax' Heads Off Ducks

Many a fish has been lured to its doom and many a game bird has been shot down by that ardent sportsman, L. H. "Doc" Watson, Lincoln's assistant postmaster. Once there was even a bear that he got with an ear. But now, Doc Watson has succumbed to two game birds.

It was some time ago that Doc bought three green-headed mallards to eat. He did kill one and eat it. Since then his hunting and other matters have kept his larder well filled and the other two mallards have been happy guests of the Watson home.

Doc loves to watch them dive in the water of the big dishpan he keeps them in. He loves to watch them eat the corn he feeds them. The ducks, it is said, ever welcome him home at night with a cheery "quack, quack." But Doc Watson will have to go elsewhere for his food.

He's fallen in love with the ducks and can't kill them.
